MANCHURIAN LEADER WINS FIERCE BATTLE

STARTS DRIVE ON TAKING THE CITY OF PEKIN

WAR CENTER IN CHINA BROADENS OUT, OBJECTIVES PEKIN AND SHANGHAI

INHABITANTS FLEEING PEKIN ADVANCE AS THOUGH AVOIDING EARTHQUAKE

(By United Press)
Osaka, Japan, Sept. 16.—A terrific battle raged today in the north of China, where Chang Tso Lin's Mukden troops came into contact with the Chi Li army of Wu Pei Fu on Monday.

The Manchurian warlord's forces were everywhere successful in the initial clash, according to the Osaka Mainichi's correspondent, who is on the battlefield.

General Chang's troops gained complete control of the town of Papi Ying Tse, 12 miles east of the important city of Chao Yang, where the fighting started.

The conflict Monday was the start of the Manchurian leader's drive for Peking and of the warfare that is likely to prove more decisive in the Chinese civil war than the fighting around Shanghai, the correspondent telegraphed.

Tso Lin, however, denied taking the initiative.

The correspondent cabled a dramatic picture of the confusion in the battle area which is just within the border of the Pe Chi Li province as follows:

"Towns and villages in the vicinity have been completely deserted by their inhabitants who fled, carrying household goods with them, as though avoiding a pestilence or an earthquake.

"Stations along the Peking-Mukden railroads, along which the fighting centers, are crowded with refugees whose plight is pitiful.

"Chan Hai Kwan, where the railroad pierces the Great Wall of China, has become the center of the Chi Li forces. Three thousand trained fighting men already have arrived from the capital and their stolid demeanor contrasts with the terror of the refugees.

"Wu Pei Fu is rushing his troops northward. All available troops north of Tientsin are expected to arrive at Chan Hai Kwan within a few days. The Chi Li force then will number about 30,000 at this point.

"A desperate and decisive battle is expected to take place soon at this important railroad point, and it is here that the fate of Wu Pei Fu and Chang Tso Lin probably will be settled.

"Another center of battle will be Jehol, where thousands of Wu Pei Fu troops are concentrated.

Artillery Offensive Against Shanghai.
Shanghai, 7:30 P. M., Sept. 16.—Re-enforced by 30,000 Chi Li troops sent forth to his assistance by Wu Pei Fu, Chang Tso Lin today began preparations for an artillery offensive against Shanghai. Engagements between outposts of the opposing armies, which lasted into the night were renewed today.

Shanghai shook with the reverberations of the artillery duel on the line about 14 miles from the international and foreign settlements.

American Marines guarded the Japanese district of Shanghai. The population of 17,000 is most grateful and has been overwhelming the American men with gifts and trinkets. Women get up in the night and carry hot soup to the sentries on duty. A detachment of Japanese soldiers is camped nearby.

Manchurian Dictator In Personal Command

Shanghai, Sept. 16.—General Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian dictator, has assumed personal command of his armies invading Chi Li from Mukden in an effort to overthrow the government, according to advices here tonight.

Meantime heavy fighting continued before Shanghai. Chi Hsieh Yuan threw in his picked troops in an effort to break the defenses of Lu Yung Hsiang and his defending

Dawes at Legion Convention Just a Plain Buddy

HUNGARY GIVES RECOGNITION TO RUSSIAN SOVIET

(By United Press)
Berlin, Sept. 16.—The Hungarian government has granted diplomatic recognition to Russia.

The joint convention which has been discussing diplomatic relations here for a few days reached full agreement.

Appointment of diplomatic agents to Moscow and Budapest is expected soon.

PROHIBITION AGENTS KEEP ST. PAUL DRY

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Federal prohibition agents are on the job to see that St. Paul is kept dry during the American Legion convention.

So far their work has been extremely effective and no occasion for making arrests has arisen. The city is dry, they say, and they are going to keep it that way.

Saturday night, however, they paid a few visits to soft drinks places and made five arrests. At 107 S. Concord street, they found a small quantity of moonshine and arrested Wayne Miles and Otto Ferguson, at 551 Jackson street, they arrested John Lipka and Edward Lind.

They completed the evening by visiting the apartment of Charles Mitchell at 535 Robert street. Three quarts of low grade moonshine, not fit for anybody, was found here, the agents said. They arrested Charles.

STATE LABOR BODY WILL RENEW FIGHT FOR SIX-DAY WEEK

FEDERATION PREPARES TO ACT
FOLLOWING ADVERSE RULING BY JUDGE

STATUTE HELD INVALID, CONTROVERSY MAY BE TAKEN TO LEGISLATURE

Fight for a six-day working week in Minnesota will be carried to the attorney general's office, the state supreme court, and if necessary to the next legislature.

This became apparent as the State Federation of Labor and the state industrial commission considered the ruling of Judge H. D. Dickinson, Hennepin county court, holding unconstitutional the law providing for one day of rest in seven.

Fear of further retardation of employment conditions if employers throughout the state take advantage of Judge Dickinson's decision, made in dismissing charges against A. T. Rand, receiver of the Minneapolis Gas Light Co., is entertained by labor leaders.

In dismissing the action, which charged he had violated the state laws by employing watchmen seven days a week, Judge Dickinson held that the purpose of the law was laudable, but that it was improperly written.

"We have not been formally notified of the opinion," J. D. Williams, member of the state industrial commission, said today, "but undoubtedly we will submit it when received to the attorney general's office for an opinion as to the justification of Judge Dickinson's ruling.

"If his ruling is held to be good law and the six-day-week law is shown to be in violation of the constitution, the next step will be to bring before the next legislature a program which will permit enactment of a six-day-week act which will stand up."

E. G. Hall, president of the Federation of Labor, said that the labor movement would continue to fight for a six-day week until satisfactory legislation had been obtained.—St. Paul Daily News.

DARROW IS TO AID DEFENDING 19 YEAR BOY

BERNARD GRANT CONVICTED OF MURDERING CHICAGO
POLICEMAN

WILL APPEAR BEFORE GOVERNOR ASKING FOR COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

(By United Press)
Charlevoix, Mich., Sept. 16.—

Clarence Darrow will leave his retreat at the home of Albert H. Loeb here within a week to "do all he can" to prevent the execution of Bernard Grant, 19-year-old boy, convicted of the murder of a Chicago policeman.

"I understand there is a petition for a re-hearing of the case pending in the Illinois supreme court," Darrow told the United Press. "I certainly shall do all in my power to prevent the execution of this boy."

The eminent Chicago lawyer is recuperating in the Michigan woods from the strenuous trial in which he saved the lives of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks, now serving life sentences at Joliet.

Darrow, who arrived here last night, said he had familiarized himself with the Grant case before he left Chicago.

"In case the appeal to the supreme court for a re-hearing fails," Darrow said, "I will appear before Governor Len Small and ask for commutation of Grant's sentence to life imprisonment."

Profound Influence On Capital Punishment.

Agitation for commutation of the death sentence of Bernard Grant, 19-year-old Chicago youth following the refusal of a judge to sentence to death Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, will have a profound influence on capital punishment in the opinion of district attorneys throughout the country.

In statements to the United Press, prosecutors were almost unanimous in the belief that the Leopold-Loeb case and the Grant agitation will make it very difficult for a time at least, to obtain the death penalty in states where it is legitimate.

More than a score of prosecutors were questioned and without exception believed the wide publicity given the two cases has resulted in a great influence on the public mind. This condition, some prosecutors believed, may be reflected in abolition of the death penalty in states where legislators discuss the matter during the coming winter.

THE CONSTABLE WAS SURE HE WAS RIGHT

(By United Press)
Paris, Sept. 16.—"Perhaps he's not dead: he may be alive still."

So starts the chorus of an old French song that children sing at picnics, and all French people know it. It is a story of a man hanging himself, and various officials, appealing one to the other, cannot go to his aid because they cannot establish whether he is dead or alive, and a solemn question of authority is at stake.

And now it has happened. Charles Deschamps, aged 65, was discovered by his servant preparing to hang himself. The servant rushed to the constable of the hamlet of Chamblere, one Monsieur Gernals. The constable or town guard, stopped to debate the question of procedure. If the man was dead, it was a case for the coroner. If not, he was committing a serious crime by attempting suicide; and therefore it was a case for the district gendarmes, above a guard's authority. He rushed to the nearest gendarmerie, some kilometers away. When he returned with the proper officials M. Deschamps was successfully hanging dead from a tree.

URGE PERSHING TO HEAD THE AMERICAN LEGION

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 16.—John J. Pershing, retired general and former commander-in-chief of the American armies, is being urged to become national commander of the American Legion.

There was a well-defined boom for the general under way today and before officers are elected Friday it will be known whether he will accept the post if it is tendered him. One thing is certain, according to a group of Wisconsin delegates, no one will dare oppose the name of "Blackjack" if it comes before the convention.

DAVIS' HAND- SHAKING TRIAL

RIGHT ARM PUMPED, SWOLLEN
FROM WRIST TO SHOULDER

(By United Press)
Eastwood Farms, Buncheon, Mo., Sept. 16.—J. W. Davis today was paying the price of being the democratic candidate for president in southwestern Missouri. His right arm was swollen from wrist to shoulder from the vigorous pump-handle shakes given him by farmers who greeted him at the monster rally at A. W. Nelson's farm. There were black and blue marks on the arms and shoulders where farmers had given him pats of encouragement.

But Davis was happy, for neither he nor the old-timers here about have ever seen such an outpouring of people at a political meeting held six miles from a railroad.

BURTON ATTACKS ANDREW MELLON

SCORES HIS RECORD AS SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

(By United Press)
Pittsburgh, Sept. 16.—Striking westward, Senator Burton K. Wheeler came today to the home city of Andrew Mellon and immediately launched a vigorous attack upon his record as secretary of the treasury.

Mellon was scored by the independent vice-presidential candidate as the "god of waste and big business which has come to dominate our government."

HARD ON EDITORS IN TURKEY; MAY BE SHOT AT

(By United Press)
Constantinople, Sept. 16.—"Praise law" they call it in Turkey, by which they mean the "law" which permits you to shoot an editor when he annoys you.

Deputy Kiliçali Bey coined the phrase in describing calmly his justification for shooting Deputy Djelal Nouri Bey, who wrote unkindly of him in his newspaper.

The prosecutor general demanded that the assailant appear before him and stand Turkish trial but Deputy Kiliçali Bey said nay, nay. He based his act on "prairie law," not on Turkish law, and he intended to continue shooting all editors who "write against me."

Both Constantinople and Angora are distinctly awed at this new and peculiar jurisdiction, and there is talk of convoking the National Assembly at once to pass a special act for the protection of Turkish editors.

Port Arthur, Texas, Sept. 16.—The Italian cargo ship Isonzo sank in the Port Arthur ship canal this morning, following a fire.

NAVAL JUNTA IN OBNOXIOUS PROPAGANDA

MAKES IT APPEAR BUDGET BUREAU IS TRYING TO "JUNK" THE NAVY

AFFECTS COMPILATION OF 1925
NAVAL ESTIMATES FOR CONGRESS

(By United Press)
Washington, Sept. 16.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has been summoned to Washington by President Coolidge to put a stop to the activities of a naval "Junta" which is seeking to make it appear that the budget bureau is trying to "junk" the navy.

Angered by the force of inspired propaganda against the bureau at a time when the 1925 naval estimates are being prepared for congress, Mr. Coolidge has called Mr. Wilbur to take charge of his department and put a stop to it.

This version of the summons which caused Wilbur to jump into an airplane at Santiago yesterday and start post haste to Washington was given to the United Press by an unquestioned authority.

The president is a strong friend of a strong navy, but he is an equally ardent supporter of the budget system. He considers a departmental propaganda directed at the budget bureau a vicious attack at the fundamentals of budgetary far outside the province of legitimate department activity.

The navy department estimates submitted to the budget bureau several weeks ago ask for appropriations of about $350,000,000, and the bureau returned them on August 12 with the request that they be pared to within $300,000,000, in effect making a cut of $50,000,000.

ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVER KILLS AND MAIMS VICTIMS

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Edward Miller, 17, was killed and Frank Tschida was injured when they were struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Roherty, South St. Paul, here early today. The car jumped the curb and struck the boys while they were walking along the sidewalk. Roherty was drunk when arrested, according to police.

Ruth Olson, 4 years old, was struck and killed by a truck driven by Bernard Ahlgren, 21, late yesterday afternoon. Ahlgren is being held at central police station.

IS BIBLE READER AS WELL AS COAL DEALER

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Sept. 16.—Reading the Bible doesn't get tiresome for W. P. Habberton, a coal dealer here.

At the end of 1924 Habberton will have completed the Good Book for the 48th time. This is a record as far as is known, although Dwight Moody, famed evangelist, was reputed to have gone through the book 50 times.

Friends of Habberton brought up his name when they read stories of a Madison, Wis., man having read the Bible 30 times.

Habberton reads the Bible on schedule—three chapters daily on week days and five on Sundays. This makes exactly one reading a year.

Opening of St. Mary's School Is Postponed

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 16.—Miss Amy Lowey, principal of St. Mary's hall, which was burned down recently, has announced that the opening of school has been postponed from Thursday, September 18, to Monday, September 22. St. Mary's pupils will occupy classrooms and dormitories at Seabury and Johnston halls this season, and Miss Lowey said the number of students will be limited to 65, as there will be no accommodations for a greater number.—Minneapolis Tribune.

ROUND-WORLD FLIERS DELAYED BY BAD WEATHER

(By United Press)
Maywood Flying Field, Chicago, Sept. 16.—The army world fliers' hop to Omaha today was delayed by inclement weather. Fog hung over the field. It was general from points along the route to Omaha that the weather was thick with no signs of clearing. The hop was scheduled for 9 o'clock.

WEATHER CONDITIONS TOO BAD FOR FLYING

Maywood Flying Field, Chicago, Sept. 16.—The army world fliers today put off their hop to Omaha until tomorrow because of bad weather. Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the squadron, declared weather conditions were too bad for flying. While the rain had stopped falling a fog still shrouded the field and visibility was bad, Smith stated.

"There is no use taking off in weather like this and then be forced to land about 20 miles out," Smith said. "We have gone around the world and have lots of time, so we'll play safe."

Smith said they would probably start the flight tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock if the weather permits.

MABEL NORMAND NAMED AS NIGHT GOWN VISITOR

FIGURES IN A SENSATIONAL DIVORCE COMPLAINT IN HOLLYWOOD

MRS. GEORGIA CHURCH, SOCIETY
MATRON, STARTS
ACTION

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 16.—Studio town is buzzing with a new morsel of gossip.

There's a sensational divorce complaint on file in the county clerk's office downtown and Mabel Normand is named in it.

Mabel, the film comedienne? Well, it doesn't definitely say, but Hollywood is talking just the same.

Mrs. Georgia Church, society matron, filed the action setting forth what Norman Church, her millionaire husband, boasted to her of "nightgown visits" which Mabel Normand paid him while the two were patients in an exclusive hospital in 1923.

And Mabel, the actress, has been in that hospital at various times. That much is certain.

Church, his wife alleges, said Miss Normand often trotted across the hall in negligee from her room into his to drink with him. She sent him flowers to which were attached sweet little notes which threatened "to tell him naughty stories if he didn't keep still," at times when he grew petulant and exacting.

Their friendship ended, Church admitted, when Mabel, recovering sooner than he did, donned her clothes one day to go home and came in and kissed him goodby.

Of all these intimacies, Mrs. Church declares, her husband boasted when he returned home, declaring that Miss Normand was a mighty fine little girl.—St. Paul Daily News.

Proposed Arbitration- Security-Disarmament Protocol Submitted

(By United Press)
Geneva, Sept. 16.—The League of Nations sub-commission headed by Premier Benes of Czechoslovakia today completed a preliminary draft of the proposed arbitration-security-disarmament project based upon the resolution submitted by Premiers Herriot and MacDonald.

The draft will be presented in the form of an interpretive protocol covenant which all league members will be asked to sign.

REFUSES TO REVIEW OR TO BE INTERVIEWED

DECLINES PLACE OF HONOR ON THE REVIEWING STAND

MARCHES MILES AND MILES
WITH HIS EVANSTON
POST

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 16.—General Chas. G. Dawes stepped down into the rank of "Buddies" today and refused to review or to be interviewed.

That his visit to the American Legion national convention might have no political significance whatever, General Dawes denied himself to newspaper men and declined a place of honor on the reviewing stand for the All-Legion parade.

Instead he proved to be just "Buddy" Dawes and took his place among the Legionnaires from the Evanston post and marched for miles and miles. He was so completely surrounded by his bodyguard of friends that newspaper men who descended upon him in force were denied even a word of greeting. It was made plain that General Dawes desired not to say a word that might be used for political purposes.

In a short morning session the Legionnaires listened to four speeches and some committee reports.

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, discussed the railroad problem before this country, talking to enlist the support of the "buddies" in the railroads' fight against government control of their lines.

Donnelly declared only one experience of the railroads under government control proved the futility of that system. He declared private enterprise, initiative and ability to be the most sacred heritages of American freedom.

Omaha, Fort Worth, Bid for Convention.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Omaha and Fort Worth will fight out on the floor of the American Legion national convention tomorrow for the 1925 meeting.

The time and place committee decided to put the question before the delegates on the floor.

Louisville, Los Angeles, San Francisco and several other cities were expected to make a bid for next year's convention, but failed to show. Fort Worth and Omaha were alone urged.

On the first ballot the committee voted 15 to 14 in favor of Omaha with New York and San Francisco not voting. The committee voted 18 to 14 to put both cities, Omaha and Fort Worth, before the "buddies" on the floor and let them fight it out.

Omaha was here with pictures, facts and figures in great volume.

Fort Worth based its bid on the flight of Lieut. Charles Banfill and R. H. Pearson from Fort Worth between daylight and dark yesterday. Lieut. Banfill and his companion made the flight from Fort Worth in 10 hours flying time, bucking storms and fog. They carried with them a general warranty deed from the city council of Fort Worth to the American Legion, properly executed and drawn and hand-painted with the Legion colors. The deed was presented to the committee with due ceremony. Later Lieut. Banfill showered the all-Legion parade with posters urging them to come to Fort Worth next year.

STATE LABOR BODY WILL RENEW FIGHT FOR SIX-DAY WEEK

FEDERATION PREPARES TO ACT FOLLOWING ADVERSE RUL- ING BY JUDGE

STATUTE HELD INVALID, CON- TROVERSY MAY BE TAKEN TO LEGISLATURE

Fight for a six-day working week in Minnesota will be carried to the attorney general's office, the state supreme court, and if necessary to the next legislature.

This became apparent as the State Federation of Labor and the state industrial commission considered the ruling of Judge H. D. Dickinson, Hennepin county court, holding unconstitutional the law providing for one day of rest in seven.

Fear of further retardation of employment conditions if employers throughout the state take advantage of Judge Dickinson's decision, made in dismissing charges against A. T. Rand, receiver of the Minneapolis Gas Light Co., is entertained by labor leaders.

DARROW IS TO AID DEFENDING 19 YEAR BOY

BERNARD GRANT CONVICTED OF MURDERING CHICAGO POLICEMAN

WILL APPEAR BEFORE GOVER- NOR ASKING FOR COMMU- TATION OF SENTENCE

(By United Press)
Charlevoix, Mich., Sept. 16.—Clarence Darrow will leave his retreat at the home of Albert H. Loeb here within a week to "do all he can" to prevent the execution of Bernard Grant, 19-year-old boy, convicted of the murder of a Chicago policeman.

"I understand there is a petition for a re-hearing of the case pending in the Illinois supreme court," Darrow told the United Press. "I certainly shall do all in my power to prevent the execution of this boy."

The eminent Chicago lawyer is recuperating in the Michigan woods from the strenuous trial in which he saved the lives of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks, now serving life sentences at Joliet.

Darrow, who arrived here last night, said he had familiarized himself with the Grant case before he left Chicago.

"In case the appeal to the supreme court for a re-hearing fails," Darrow said, "I will appear before Governor Len Small and ask for commutation of Grant's sentence to life imprisonment."

Profound Influence On Capital Punishment.

Agitation for commutation of the death sentence of Bernard Grant, 19-year-old Chicago youth following the refusal of a judge to sentence to death Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, will have a profound influence on capital punishment in the opinion of district attorneys throughout the country.

In statements to the United Press, prosecutors were almost unanimous in the belief that the Leopold-Loeb case and the Grant agitation will make it very difficult for a time at least, to obtain the death penalty in states where it is legitimate.

More than a score of prosecutors were questioned and without exception believed the wide publicity given the two cases has resulted in a great influence on the public mind. This condition, some prosecutors believed, may be reflected in abolition of the death penalty in states where legislators discuss the matter during the coming winter.

THE CONSTABLE WAS SURE HE WAS RIGHT

(By United Press)
Paris, Sept. 16.—"Perhaps he's not dead: he may be alive still."

So starts the chorus of an old French song that children sing at picnics, and all French people know it. It is a story of a man hanging himself, and various officials, appealing one to the other, cannot go to his aid because they cannot establish whether he is dead or alive, and a solemn question of authority is at stake.

And now it has happened. Charles Deschamps, aged 65, was discovered by his servant preparing to hang himself. The servant rushed to the constable of the hamlet of Chambrerie, one Monsieur Gernais. The constable or town guard, stopped to debate the question of procedure. If the man was dead, it was a case for the coroner. If not, he was committing a serious crime by attempting suicide; and therefore it was a case for the district gendarmes, above a guard's authority. He rushed to the nearest gendarmerie, some kilometers away. When he returned with the proper officials M. Deschamps was successfully hanging dead from a tree.

URGE PERSHING TO HEAD THE AMERICAN LEGION

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 16.—John J. Pershing, retired general and former commander-in-chief of the American armies, is being urged to become national commander of the American Legion.

There was a well-defined boom for the general under way today and before officers are elected Friday it will be known whether he will accept the post if it is tendered him. One thing is certain, according to a group of Wisconsin delegates, no one will dare oppose the name of "Blackjack" if it comes before the convention.

(By United Press)
Constantinople, Sept. 16.—"Prairie law" they call it in Turkey, by which they mean the "law" which permits you to shoot an editor when he annoys you.

The prosecutor general demanded that the assailant appear before him and stand Turkish trial but Deputy Kilidjli Bey said nay, nay. He based his act on "prairie law," not on Turkish law, and he intended to continue shooting all editors who "write against me."

Both Constantinople and Angora are distinctly awed at this new and peculiar jurisdiction, and there is talk of convoking the National Assembly at once to pass a special act for the protection of Turkish editors.

NAVAL JUNTA IN OBNOXIOUS PROPAGANDA

MAKES IT APPEAR BUDGET BU- REAU IS TRYING TO "JUNK" THE NAVY

AFFECTS COMPILATION OF 1925 NAVAL ESTIMATES FOR CONGRESS

(By United Press)
Washington, Sept. 16.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has been summoned to Washington by President Coolidge to put a stop to the activities of a naval "junta" which is seeking to make it appear that the budget bureau is trying to "junk" the navy.

Angered by the force of inspired propaganda against the bureau at a time when the 1925 naval estimates are being prepared for congress, Mr. Coolidge has called Mr. Wilbur to take charge of his department and put a stop to it.

This version of the summons which caused Wilbur to jump into an airplane at Santiago yesterday and start post haste to Washington was given to the United Press by an unquestioned authority.

The president is a strong friend of a strong navy, but he is an equally ardent supporter of the budget system. He considers a departmental propaganda directed at the budget bureau a vicious attack at the fundamentals of budgetary far outside the province of legitimate department activity.

The navy department estimates submitted to the budget bureau several weeks ago ask for appropriations of about $350,000,000, and the bureau returned them on August 12 with the request that they be pared to within $300,000,000, in effect making a cut of $50,000,000.

ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVER KILLS AND MAIMS VICTIMS

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Edward Miller, 17, was killed and Frank Tschida was injured when they were struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Roherty, South St. Paul, here early today. The car jumped the curb and struck the boys while they were walking along the sidewalk. Roherty was drunk when arrested, according to police.

Ruth Olson, 4 years old, was struck and killed by a truck driven by Bernard Ahlgren, 21, late yesterday afternoon. Ahlgren is being held at central police station.

IS BIBLE READER AS WELL AS COAL DEALER

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Sept. 16.—Reading the Bible doesn't get tiresome for W. P. Habberton, a coal dealer here.

At the end of 1924 Habberton will have completed the Good Book for the 48th time. This is a record as far as is known, although Dwight Moody, famed evangelist, was reputed to have gone through the book 50 times.

Friends of Habberton brought up his name when they read stories of a Madison, Wis., man having read the Bible 30 times.

Habberton reads the Bible on schedule—three chapters daily on week days and five on Sundays. This makes exactly one reading a year.

Opening of St. Mary's School Is Postponed

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 16.—Miss Amy Lowey, principal of St. Mary's hall, which was burned down recently, has announced that the opening of school has been postponed from Thursday, September 18, to Monday, September 22. St. Mary's pupils will occupy classrooms and dormitories at Seabury and Johnston halls this season, and Miss Lowey said the number of students will be limited to 65, as there will be no accommodations for a greater number. —Minneapolis Tribune.

ROUND-WORLD FLIERS DELAYED BY BAD WEATHER

(By United Press)
Maywood Flying Field, Chicago, Sept. 16.—The army world fliers' hop to Omaha today was delayed by inclement weather. Fog hung over the field. It was general from points along the route to Omaha that the weather was thick with no signs of clearing. The hop was scheduled for 9 o'clock.

WEATHER CONDITIONS TOO BAD FOR FLYING

Maywood Flying Field, Chicago, Sept. 16.—The army world fliers today put off their hop to Omaha until tomorrow because of bad weather. Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the squadron, declared weather conditions were too bad for flying. While the rain had stopped falling a fog still shrouded the field and visibility was bad, Smith stated.

"There is no use taking off in weather like this and then be forced to land about 20 miles out," Smith said. "We have gone around the world and have lots of time, so we'll play safe."

Smith said they would probably start the flight tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock if the weather permits.

MABEL NORMAND NAMED AS NIGHT GOWN VISITOR

FIGURES IN A SENSATIONAL DI- VORCE COMPLAINT IN HOLLYWOOD

MRS. GEORGIA CHURCH, SOCIETY MATRON, STARTS ACTION

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 16.—Studio town is buzzing with a new morsel of gossip.

There's a sensational divorce complaint on file in the county clerk's office downtown and Mabel Normand is named in it.

Mabel, the film comedienne? Well, it doesn't definitely say, but Hollywood is talking just the same. Mrs. Georgia Church, society matron, filed the action setting forth what Norman Church, her millionaire husband, boasted to her of "nightgown visits" which Mabel Normand paid him while the two were patients in an exclusive hospital in 1923.

And Mabel, the actress, has been in that hospital at various times. That much is certain.

Church, his wife alleges, said Miss Normand often trotted across the hall in negligee from her room into his to drink with him. She sent him flowers to which were attached sweet little notes which threatened "to tell him naughty stories if he didn't keep still," at times when he grew petulant and exacting.

Their friendship ended, Church admitted, when Mabel, recovering sooner than he did, donned her clothes one day to go home and came in and kissed him goodbye.

Of all these intimacies, Mrs. Church declares, her husband boasted when he returned home, declaring that Miss Normand was a mighty fine little girl.—St. Paul Daily News.

Proposed Arbitration- Security-Disarmament Protocol Submitted

(By United Press)
Geneva, Sept. 16.—The League of Nations sub-commission headed by Premier Benes of Czecho-Slovakia today completed a preliminary draft of the proposed arbitration-security-disarmament project based upon the resolution submitted by Premiers Herriot and MacDonald.

The draft will be presented in the form of an interpretive protocol covenant which all league members will be asked to sign.

REFUSES TO REVIEW OR TO BE INTERVIEWED

DECLINES PLACE OF HONOR THE REVIEWING STAND

MARCHES MILES AND WITH HIS EVANSTON POST

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 16.—General Chas. G. Dawes stepped down into the rank of "Buddies" today and refused to review or be interviewed.

That his visit to the American Legion national convention might have no political significance whatever, General Dawes denied himself to newspaper men and declined a place of honor on the reviewing stand for the All-Legion parade.

Instead he proved to be just "Buddy" Dawes and took his place among the Legionnaires from the Evanston post and marched for miles and miles. He was so completely surrounded by his bodyguard of friends that newspaper men who descended upon him in force were denied even a word of greeting. It was made plain that General Dawes desires not to say a word that might be used for political purposes.

In a short morning session the Legionnaires listened to four speeches and some committee reports.

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, discussed the railroad problem before this country, talking to enlist the support of the "buddies" in the railroads' fight against government control of their lines.

Donnelly declared only one experience of the railroads under government control proved the futility of that system. He declared private enterprise, initiative and ability to be the most sacred heritages of American freedom.

Omaha, Fort Worth, Bid for Convention.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Omaha and Fort Worth will fight out on the floor of the American Legion national convention tomorrow for the 1925 meeting.

The time and place committee decided to put the question before the delegates on the floor.

Louisville, Los Angeles, San Francisco and several other cities were expected to make a bid for next year's convention, but failed to show. Fort Worth and Omaha were alone urged.

On the first ballot the committee voted 15 to 14 in favor of Omaha with New York and San Francisco not voting. The committee voted 18 to 14 to put both cities, Omaha and Fort Worth, before the "buddies" on the floor and let them fight it out.

Omaha was here with pictures, facts and figures in great volume.

Fort Worth based its bid on the flight of Lieut. Charles Banfill and R. H. Pearson from Fort Worth between daylight and dark yesterday. Lieut. Banfill and his companion made the flight from Fort Worth in 10 hours flying time, bucking storms and fog. They carried with them a general warranty deed from the city council of Fort Worth to the American Legion, properly executed and drawn and hand-painted with the Legion colors. The deed was presented to the committee with due ceremony. Later Lieut. Banfill showered the all-Legion parade with posters urging them to come to Fort Worth next year.

Republican Convention a Battle Ground at Madison, Wis.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—Pulsating with the throb of impending battle between the forces supporting President Coolidge and Senator Robert M. La Follette, the state Republican convention came to order amid a tumult of excitement here today.

Former Grand Secretary of State Odd Fellows Writes Interesting Letter

APPRECIATES GREETINGS

Unity Lodge of Brainerd Sent Him Grateful Testimonial Communion

A. L. Bolton, former grand secretary of the I. O. O. F. of Minnesota, which office he held for over thirty years, and well known in Brainerd, where he has many friends, retired this year, and has gone to California.

Unity Lodge No. 194, I. O. O. F. of Brainerd, through its secretary Theodore Miller, wrote to Mr. Bolton at the time of his retirement, congratulating him upon his many years of service as secretary, and regretting the loss to Minnesota Odd Fellowship in his leaving the state. In answer to this letter, Mr. Bolton writes as follows:

Dear Brother Miller and members of Unity Lodge: I acknowledge receipt of your kind letter of August 24th, and want to assure you of my grateful appreciation of its contents. Your remembrance of me is a great comfort in this far-away land. True, I have many Odd Fellow friends here, but there are no friends like the old friends, and I count the friends of No. 194 in that class.

This is a land of hot sunshine during the day, but cool nights. The mountains, (I am five minutes from their feet) and the ocean breezes make warmer clothing necessary on cloudy days and always at night.

The people apparently do not notice the dryness, but to me it is depressing. One can drive all day and hardly see a drop of water, except at the beach. After so long residing in Minnesota, fifty-five years, and used to green grass and trees, rivers and ten thousand lakes, you can perhaps imagine the contrast.

Business is about the same here at all times, that business principally housing, feeding and clothing about one and a half million people. But it is no place for a man to come expecting to get a job, for there are more men than jobs, and these already here have the preference.

However, one can live about as economically as in Minnesota, provided he is not a meat eater. If so, his living will be high. But fruits and vegetables are very reasonable in price.

Fruit and oil are the principal industries, but they are practically both monopolies, and require thousands, yes millions, of dollars to handle. Real estate is a drug on the market. Its day of high prices is past. As a matter of fact, real estate has been a gamble, the "Ins" reaping the harvest from the "Outs" who come here to spend their money.

The film industry is of course flourishing here, but few get any benefit from that source. The owners are making millions, but hundreds of poor, misguided girls, who think they have talent, come here, lose out, and then—degradation. There is the pity.

There are, of course, a few foundries and other iron industries, but the railway shops are the big institutions, and they have all the men they want. In fact, a St. Paul friend, who has been in the general office of the Chicago Great Western, says they told him here that if they gave him a place, they would have to discharge an old employee. Hence, tell your members and friends not to come here and expect to get jobs. If they come, better have a return ticket, or money to live on.

Mr. Bolton now lives at 339 West Burchett street, Glendale, California, and will appreciate hearing from old Minnesota friends.

French Girl's Dot

There is no law in France providing that a girl must have a dot before she can be married. The dot is merely a prevailing custom which dates back many centuries. It is the marriage portion which a woman brings to her husband. The husband may use the interest or income from the dot for the upkeep of the household, but the principal remains the property of his wife. The custom is so consistently observed in France that if a father cannot supply a substantial dot his daughter is placed in a disadvantageous position in respect to her opportunities for marriage.—Exchange.

First Steam Hammers

The steam hammer was invented by James Nasmyth, who first conceived the invention in 1839, but did not patent it until 1842. Meanwhile a steam hammer had been actually built at the iron works of Le Creusot, France. The first Nasmyth hammer was erected in 1843 at Bridgewater foundry, at Patricroft, near Manchester, England.

The office of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, in St. Paul, are featuring in its windows mounted fish taken from lakes near Brainerd, as shown by the accompanying picture.

This is an excellent advertisement for the Brainerd playground, and is seen by hundreds of tourists who are anxious to combine their vacation trips with good fishing facilities.

The collection of mounted fish to be seen in the window, were gathered through the efforts of R. R. Wise, president of the association, who had these fine specimens of the finny tribe mounted and taken to St. Paul at his own expense. It was at Mr. Wise's direction that the window was especially trimmed to advertise

Brainerd. One of the big beauties was caught in South Long lake, and is still the property of Lone Pine Camp, situated on that lake. The other specimens were purchased by or given to Mr. Wise and are now the property of the association.

It is seldom that a city receives such favorable advertising as this is giving Brainerd, and all without cost to the city. This window will no doubt attract many fishermen to Brainerd, and will assist greatly in advertising the possibilities of this district. Much credit is due Mr. Wise for his initiative in getting together such a collection of fish, and utilizing them as a boost for his home city.

DEERWOOD "SAN" RADIO FUND GROWS

Donations Are Slowly But Surely Gaining in Volume, Spelling Success in the End

LARGE TERRITORY RESPONDS

Crosby, Deerwood, Ironton, Brainerd, Aitkin, Pequot Are Giving to the Radio Fund

Dr. James K. Anderson, superintendent of the Deerwood sanatorium, who was in Brainerd recently, gave this interview regarding progress in solicitation for the radio fund.

"The Deerwood Sanatorium Radio Fund is slowly but we hope surely growing. People solicited are responding freely and liberally and feel that the cause is a worthy one. The responses have been approximately as follows: Crosby, $50; Deerwood, $60; Ironton, $15; Brainerd, $50; Aitkin, $1; Pequot, $25; outside, $10. Aitkin, Pequot and Ironton have not been visited by solicitors as yet, hence the response has not been as great as other places, but we feel that the response will be generous. In Brainerd Dr. J. A. Thabes and H. P. Dunn will personally solicit next week for additional donations.

"The patients at the sanatorium are very anxious about the progress of this campaign and look forward to the contribution lists in the various papers with great expectation.

Many people will be solicited personally but it will be impossible to see nearly all, so if you wish to contribute to this worthy cause send your donation to your local newspaper or send directly to the sanatorium, or the First National bank of Deerwood. You will be given the proper credit in the next publication of the papers. If you wish to contribute by checks make this out to the Deerwood Sanatorium Radio Fund and send to one of the three named places. Contribute all you can to this fund. This is the first opportunity that the public have been given to show their appreciation of their sanatorium.

Contributions recently received in Brainerd by Dr. and Mrs. Anderson include H. P. Dunn, $5; Drs. Thabes, Badeaux and Gerber, $29; John M. Bye, $10; W. T. Cleary, $5; A. C. Thert, $1; Northern Home Furnishings Co., $5. Dr. Thabes and Mr. Dunn will continue their canvass for more funds.

Small contributions made to Miss Thora Ingebritson, county nurse, amount to 75c and such cash is now at the Dispatch office.

Further donations from Brainerd

DEERWOOD "SAN" RADIO FUND GROWS

Donations Are Slowly But Surely Gaining in Volume, Spelling Success in the End

LARGE TERRITORY RESPONDS

Crosby, Deerwood, Ironton, Brainerd, Aitkin, Pequot Are Giving to the Radio Fund

Dr. James K. Anderson, superintendent of the Deerwood sanatorium, who was in Brainerd recently, gave this interview regarding progress in solicitation for the radio fund.

"The Deerwood Sanatorium Radio Fund is slowly but we hope surely growing. People solicited are responding freely and liberally and feel that the cause is a worthy one. The responses have been approximately as follows: Crosby, $50; Deerwood, $60; Ironton, $15; Brainerd, $50; Aitkin, $1; Pequot, $25; outside, $10. Aitkin, Pequot and Ironton have not been visited by solicitors as yet, hence the response has not been as great as other places, but we feel that the response will be generous. In Brainerd Dr. J. A. Thabes and H. P. Dunn will personally solicit next week for additional donations.

"The patients at the sanatorium are very anxious about the progress of this campaign and look forward to the contribution lists in the various papers with great expectation.

Many people will be solicited personally but it will be impossible to see nearly all, so if you wish to contribute to this worthy cause send your donation to your local newspaper or send directly to the sanatorium, or the First National bank of Deerwood. You will be given the proper credit in the next publication of the papers. If you wish to contribute by checks make this out to the Deerwood Sanatorium Radio Fund and send to one of the three named places. Contribute all you can to this fund. This is the first opportunity that the public have been given to show their appreciation of their sanatorium.

Contributions recently received in Brainerd by Dr. and Mrs. Anderson include H. P. Dunn, $5; Drs. Thabes, Badeaux and Gerber, $20; John M. Bye, $10; W. T. Cleary, $5; A. C. Tbert, $1; Northern Home Furnishing Co., $5. Dr. Thabes and Mr. Dunn will continue their canvass for more funds.

Small contributions made to Miss Thora Ingebrigtsen, county nurse, amount to 75c and such cash is now at the Dispatch office.

JOHN MARSHALL

DURING Constitution Week it is but fitting to bring up and review the wonderful work of John Marshall, whose interpretations of law, made while serving as Chief Justice of the United States for 34 years, formed impregnable bulwarks for the Constitution of our nation. In constructive and enduring work he ranks next to Washington.

When he entered upon the duties of his office on February 4, 1801, there were two schools of politics. The school led by Washington and Hamilton and Adams and Marshall believed in a liberal construction of the Constitution, looking to the erection of a great nation based on a strong central government. The other school led by Jefferson and Madison believed in a strict construction of the Constitution, in the supremacy of the State Government and denied the ultimate power of the Supreme Court.

The colonies had a taste of mere federation government, when lines were so loosely flung that no driver could get action out of the team. State's rights, the sovereignty of a state, its alleged rights to secede, had a test in the civil war.

The theory of government as enunciated by Marshall may be traced in his court decisions. In 1803 he held that an act of Congress repugnant to the Constitution is void, that the mandates of the Supreme Court must be enforced even as against the President of the United States.

In 1810 came the decision that the provisions in the Constitution are supreme and control even the acts of a State Legislature. When a state passes a law that contravenes the provisions of the Constitution, the Supreme Court has the power to declare that act unconstitutional and void and that the authority of the states is subject to the provisions of the Constitution.

In 1819 liberal construction is given to the sweeping clause in the Constitution providing that Congress should have the power "to make all laws that shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers," etc.

The so-called Department College case in 1819 marked another important pier in our foundation of liberties. Marshall upheld the constitutional sanctity of contracts and their inviolability by the States.

In 1821 the Court upheld jurisdiction of the United States over a State and established the revisory appellate power of the Supreme Court over the judgments of State courts.

In 1824 came the decision giving a liberal construction to the power of Congress to regulate commerce among the States. Commerce was free to travel among the States, immune to invasion by State Legislatures. This decision established firmly the supremacy of Congress over Interstate Commerce with the result "that our Interstate Commerce, still vaster on land and water, by boat or rail or telegraph, knows no state lines, is subject to no state exactions, and is as free to everyone engaged in it as the elements of air and water."

Other decisions later established the paramountcy of Congress over Interstate Commerce where the acts of the States come in conflict with the Constitution or laws of the United States. The guiding intellect and genius of Marshall established the supremacy of the Government over the Constitution as against the sovereignty of the various States. Without these principles so firmly announced and so logically maintained, our Government could not have endured.

The political theory of Chief Justice Marshall is admirably set forth in the case of Marbury vs. Madison in which he states in part: "The Constitution is either a superior paramount law, unchangeable by ordinary means, or it is on a level with ordinary legislative acts, and, like other acts, is alterable when the legislature shall please to alter it. If the former part of the alternative be true, then a legislative act contrary to the Constitution is no law; if the latter part be true, then written constitutions are absurd attempts on the part of the people to limit a power in its own nature, illimitable. Certainly all those who have framed constitutions contemplate them as forming the fundamental and paramount law of the nation, and, consequently, the theory of every such government must be that an act of the legislature repugnant to the Constitution is void," and then he emphatically asserts the duty and the power of the Judicial Department to say when the law in question is and when it is not in conflict with the Constitution.

"FARMER'S DOLLAR" WORTH MORE

THE recent favorable turn of economic affairs is not merely a fluctuation but is a turn in the direction of normalcy, says the Aikin Independent Age in an editorial summing up business conditions. The advanced value of the "farmer's dollar" is a substantial fact. The quotations on grains is not a result of a boom period but is based on the Liverpool and Canadian grain markets. Crop returns in this section of the country are showing a heavy yield of small grain.

Farmers are not so eager to dispose of their land as they were a few months ago. The sale of land has grown more stable and financial experts are urging the purchase of tracts while the price is still on its incline. Many who were on the verge of bankruptcy a few months ago, and were willing to sell their land at a sacrifice, have made arrangements to start their work anew and are preparing for their winter schedule.

Banking officials state that many of the institutions which were ordered closed during the past two years are reorganizing and will reopen their doors, and the paper which they held and classified as "frozen" is beginning to move.

Business generally has taken on new life and merchants in the smaller communities in the state are reported as increasing their stocks 100 per cent. This condition has not existed since the depression which immediately followed the signing of the armistice and is one of the most optimistic indications.

While the commodities which the farmer buys has been reduced, the price of his products has taken a jump, which brings the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar almost to par and the value is more stable than it has been in years.

THE Mahnomen Pioneer avers that the man who recently dropped dead in a postoffice had found a pen that worked.

CARBON MONOXIDE

IS INSIDIOUS GAS

LIKE AIR, IT HAS NEITHER COLOR
NOR TASTE AND NO
ODOR

Carbon monoxide, most common and insidious of poison gases, is continuing its frightful ravages on human life, according to a statement made by Dr. R. R. Sayers, Chief Surgeon, Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, before a meeting of the Pacific Safety Conference, at San Francisco. In New York City several hundred deaths occur each year from carbon monoxide poisoning, due chiefly to domestic use of gas where sufficient care as to proper use of appliances and ventilation is not taken. Records from the State Department of Health of Ohio, which are said to be incomplete, show that 64 deaths and 113 partial asphyxiations occurred in that state during the winter of 1922-23. Fifty-five of the deaths were due to gas heaters and stoves and five to exposure to automobile exhaust gas.

Carbon monoxide is a gas slightly lighter than air, with which it diffuses readily. It will burn and has a wide explosive range. Like air, it has neither color nor taste and has no odor in concentrations usually encountered, therefore it can not be detected by the ordinary senses with which men are endowed. It is produced by burning carbon-containing fuels, as coal, wood, gasoline, natural and manufactured gas, etc., whenever not enough air or oxygen is supplied to burn the fuel completely.

The human race has probably been exposed to this gas since men first began using fires in confined or sheltered places. A number of cases described in the ancient literature indicate that carbon monoxide was a frequent cause of death by accident, suicide, and as a means of punishment or torture. Aristotle, who lived in 384-322 B. C., stated that "animals collapse from harmful odors, as man gets a severe headache and often dies through charcoal vapors." The Romans knew that smoke was poisonous, and used the greenest, most smoke-producing wood to put persons to death. The occurrence of carbon monoxide poisoning has increased in frequency through the years until at the present time it is found in the home as well as in many industries.

Common sources of carbon monoxide, illustrating its universal occurrence, are mine fires and explosions; the gaseous products of combustion of powder, dynamite and other explosives; blast-furnace stack gas; coke-oven gas; coal gas; producer gas; gas ranges and room heaters burning natural gas or manufactured gas; automobile exhaust gas; smoke from burning buildings; and railroad locomotive stack gas. Manufactured gas may contain anywhere from 10 to 30 per cent of carbon monoxide. If the connections with either heaters or lights are poorly made an added danger is introduced. The use of rubber tubing has been especially emphasized by many investigators as causing poisoning and often death of those exposed, due to deterioration of the rubber and to ill-fitting connections. Automobile exhaust gas contains an average of 7 per cent of carbon monoxide.

The detection of carbon monoxide is very important in order to avoid exposure. In concentrations usually found carbon monoxide can not be detected by its odor. However, in its occurrence from most sources carbon monoxide is associated with other gases having distinctive odors, and thus warning is given of a dangerous atmosphere. Removal of the odoriferous constituents from illuminating gas in scrubbing the gas is often the cause of poisoning to users through absence of warning odor. The odors coming from domestic gas stoves may or may not be a criterion for judging the presence of carbon monoxide.

Mice and birds are more quickly affected than men by carbon monoxide, and may be used for detecting dangerous atmosphere. Birds are preferable because they show symptoms earlier and are easier to observe.

The miners' flame safety lamp cannot be safely used for the detection of carbon monoxide in air, as it is difficult to detect with a safety lamp even the presence of 1.5 per cent of carbon monoxide. This percentage is exceedingly dangerous to life—in fact, a man breathing such an atmosphere would be overcome almost at once.

The "Hoolamite," or activated iodine pentoxide indicator for carbon monoxide, is frequently used by engineers of the Bureau of Mines engaged in mine-rescue and recovery operations. The indicator gives immediately positive results, with carbon monoxide in air in concentrations of 0.07 per cent

Good ventilation, and good equipment are the most important factors in the prevention of carbon monoxide poisoning. For treatment inhalation for a period of 10 to 30 minutes of oxygen or a 5 per cent mixture of carbon dioxide in oxygen, if available, will greatly decrease the number and severity of symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning, as well as decrease the possibility of serious after-effects. All hospitals, and all industries in which this type of poisoning exists, should supply apparatus for the efficient administration of these treatments. Everyone should be trained in methods of giving artificial respiration and as many as possible know how to use inhalers in order that resuscitation of carbon monoxide victims may be effected promptly.

VILLAGE COUNCIL ASSISTS

Boxing Exhibition, Baseball Game,
3 Bands to Play, Dancing
and Fireworks

The Ironton Sports Carnival will be held on Saturday, September 27, for one day only. The Commercial club is sponsoring the celebration. Its program is a most extensive one, including a boxing exhibition with several high class features on the card; a baseball game of Crosby-Ironton team vs. Staples; three bands discoursing sweet music, including the Coleraine band, St. Cloud band and the Crosby band. There will be dancing all day on the new tennis court located in the Ironton village park.

The festivities will wind up with fireworks in the evening. To finance the civic undertaking, the village council has appropriated $1,000, the Commercial club $1,000.

Attention was drawn to the coming home carnival by the entry of a fleet of decorated automobiles which paraded Brainerd, carrying pennants and banners advertising the coming celebration.

"MY CHINA DOLL"

Barbara Bronell in Title Role Permeates Tuneful, Gorgeous
Musical Comedy

"My China Doll" the musical comedy which played at the New Park theatre on Monday evening, drew a full house and lived up to its reputation as being a "Gorgeous Musical Extravaganza." Each of its eight scenes was staged amid beautiful elaborate settings, and brought forth nothing but the highest praise and the most favorable comment.

"My China Doll" is one of the cleanest productions that has shown in Brainerd for several seasons. There was nothing in the entire play that hinted at the suggestive, or was in the least off color. The characters did not bring in the often-used jokes on local institutions or people, but instead entertained their audience with clean, original comedy that held the close attention of everyone from the start to the last curtain.

The theme of the production revolves around the one character, as the name of the comedy suggests, and Miss Barbara Bronell in the title role danced and sang her way into the hearts of her audience with her versatile, clever acting, her wonderful dancing and her sweet, winsome manners. Miss Bronell gave an excellent rendition of a Chinese girl, in the first and last scenes, and in the others proved her ability as a toe dancer above the average, a stage dancer of rare ability, a good snare drummer, a comedian and a vocalist.

The plot of this comedy centers around Miss Bronell, who as the daughter of a notorious Chinese dope peddler and smuggler, incurs the wrath of her father by falling in love with an American, who is in a sight-seeing party through New York's Chinatown. The father in an effort to stop the love affair, shoots his daughter's lover, and to drown her sorrow, "The China Doll" finds refuge in the opium pipe. Her dreams in poppyland under the influence of this drug furnishes the setting for the scenes that follow, until she awakens to find that her lover still lives, and that she herself is a white girl, stolen by the wicked foster parent.

The first dream of "The China Doll," while under the influence of opium, is in the land of story-books. Here all of the characters of childhood booklore, including Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, Jack The Giant Killer, Mother Goose, and many others were brought to life on the stage, amid strikingly realistic settings, and with numerous musical bits.

"The Land Of Music" was the second dream brought on by the poppy pipe. Here Little Miss Ragtime reigned supreme, much to the disgust of Discord and the queen of song. Clever music, dancing and elaborate settings made this scene a very popular one.

The third and last dream was undoubtedly the finest of the three, with gorgeous settings, striking electrical effects and beautiful costumes. This dream was in the land of flowers, in which the leading lady was cast as Miss Rose. In this scene Miss Bronell proved herself to be a toe dancer far above the average, exhibiting many intricate steps in this difficult act.

All who witnessed "My China Doll" are loud in their praise for the musical comedy, and agree with the critics from the larger cities in proclaiming it one of the decided worthwhile attractions of the season.

The company came to Brainerd from Duluth, where it played a four-day engagement, and left on Tuesday morning for Crookston, and Fargo, enroute to the west coast on its winter tour.

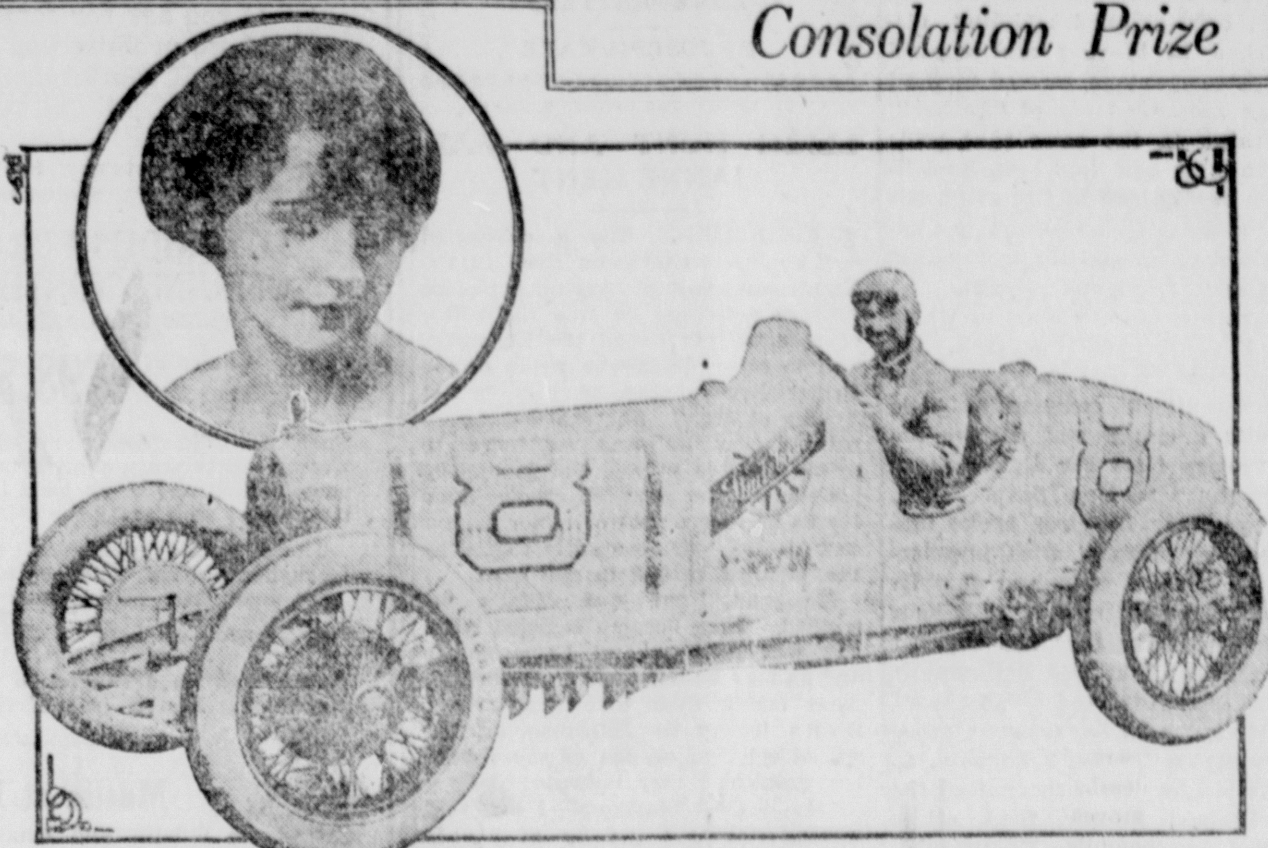

The Duluth Herald has the following to say of the production:

Without consulting the young lady's wishes at all, we for one do not care if Barbara Bronell ever dances in New York. It will only mean that we would be compelled to go to Manhattan to see her dance, and after seeing her last night in "My China Doll" at the Orpheum, we certainly will want to see her again.

The show is everything we expected—tuneful, entertaining and delightfully interesting. The scenic effects are exceptionally good and the costumes are beautiful. But "My China Doll" is Barbara Bronell, and it was worth missing the fight returns and walking wet pavements to see her.

Red-Headed Beauty to Wed Earl Cooper, Studebaker Pilot, Because He Lost Motor Classic—

Romantic Meeting in Los Angeles Traffic Crash Settles Cooper for Life

RIVERSIDE, CALIF., Sept. 20 (Special)—A red-headed girl, slim and pretty, dabbed a cambric handkerchief to her eyes, when Earl Cooper in his famous Studebaker Special was robbed by hard luck of the $50,000 first prize at the very end of the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race, Decoration Day.

And when Cooper, grimy and exhausted, came into the pits, he didn't bemoan that heart-breaking tire trouble. He said to his mechanic, Reeves Dutton:

"I can't get my mind off a red-headed beauty. She was sitting in the grandstand, when we lined up for the start. I kept thinking of her all during that 500 miles. Gosh, I've got to find her!"

And as "consolation prize" for being forced into second place in the 1924 motor classic, Cooper is going to be married here on September 22 to his fair red-headed admirer of the grandstand! Girls, how's that for real-life romance, eh?

Mr. Cooper will be married to Mrs. Jane N. Bailey, 26 years old, of Troy, N. Y., at an elaborate ceremony in the Mission Inn here on Monday, according to an announcement today by the girl's mother, who has taken a town house at 426 South Catalina Street, Los Angeles. Many California notables will attend.

"I looked all over for that red-headed girl, after the Indianapolis race," the Studebaker star explained to friends. "But I couldn't find her. And then I went to race in Altoona, Pa., and Kansas City—and still I couldn't get her out of my mind."

Crash! They Meet Again Ten days ago Cooper was driving west on Seventh Street, near Grand Avenue, Los Angeles. Crash! His wheels locked with those of a shiny grey coupe. A girl leaned out of the window. She was red-headed, pretty—and Irish! Oo, she bawled him out proper.

"Is this the first time you ever drove a car?" she said, biting off the words. "If you hadn't been driving so slow, you wouldn't have hit me. Why don't you take some driving lessons, young man?"

Cooper, race veteran of fourteen years, who has faced death at terrific speed in more than 1,000 gruelling contests, grinned sheepishly. And then—suddenly, he caught the glint of sun on auburn hair. Swiftly he pulled over to the curb. It was his Indianapolis dream girl.

"Excuse me, ma'am," he stuttered. "I'm just learning to drive—won't you teach me. Please?"

And he gave her his card. The red-headed girl gasped, looked again at "Earl Cooper, Studebaker Special"—and gazed upon Cooper with hero-worshipping eyes.

She Felt Sorry For Him "Oh, Mr. Cooper," she cried, with earnest sorrow in her eyes, "it was a shame! You should have won at Indianapolis. I watched you—leading the field for 425 miles—and then to have that tire trouble—"

"I know," quietly interrupted Cooper. "I saw you there, in the grandstand. I couldn't think of anything but you, during that race."

And that is why, it was revealed today, Earl Cooper will receive as his "$50,000 consolation prize," the hand of Jane Bailey, feminine racing enthusiast. She felt so sorry for him that she's going to marry him. And Cooper says he's glad he lost that race.

"Funny, how we met in Los Angeles," grinned Cooper, today. "Well, I'd rather take a bawling out before she marries me, than afterward."

Cooper, who is second in this year's competition for A. A. A. "Speed King," drove his Studebaker Special in the Altoona race, September 1, and the Syracuse, N. Y. State Fair, September 13, rushing back here for his wedding. They will motor to New York October 3, and thence to the new Charlotte, N. C., Speedway, where his bride will cheer him to victory at the opening of the 250-mile Dixie speed meet.

"I'm going to be Earl's mascot," she confided.

VILLAGE COUNCIL ASSISTS

Boxing Exhibition, Baseball Game,
3 Bands to Play, Dancing
and Fireworks

The Ironton Sports Carnival will be held on Saturday, September 27, for one day only. The Commercial club is sponsoring the celebration. Its program is a most extensive one, including a boxing exhibition with several high class features on the card; a baseball game of Crosby-Ironton team vs. Staples; three bands discoursing sweet music, including the Coleraine band, St. Cloud band and the Crosby band. There will be dancing all day on the new tennis court located in the Ironton village park.

The festivities will wind up with fireworks in the evening. To finance the civic undertaking, the village council has appropriated $1,000, the Commercial club $1,000.

Attention was drawn to the coming home carnival by the entry of a fleet of decorated automobiles which paraded Brainerd, carrying pennants and banners advertising the coming celebration.

"MY CHINA DOLL"

Barbara Bronell in Title Role Per-
meates Tuneful, Gorgeous
Musical Comedy

"My China Doll" the musical comedy which played at the New Park theatre on Monday evening, drew a full house and lived up to its reputation as being a "Gorgeous Musical Extravaganza." Each of its eight scenes was staged amid beautiful elaborate settings, and brought forth nothing but the highest praise and the most favorable comment.

"My China Doll" is one of the cleanest productions that has shown in Brainerd for several seasons. There was nothing in the entire play that hinted at the suggestive, or was in the least off color. The characters did not bring in the often-used jokes on local institutions or people, but instead entertained their audience with clean, original comedy that held the close attention of everyone from the start to the last curtain.

The theme of the production revolves around the one character, as the name of the comedy suggests, and Miss Barbara Bronell in the title role danced and sang her way into the hearts of her audience with her versatile, clever acting, her wonderful dancing and her sweet, winsome manners. Miss Bronell gave an excellent rendition of a Chinese girl in the first and last scenes, and in the others proved her ability as a toe dancer above the average, a stage dancer of rare ability, a good snare drummer, a comedian and a vocalist.

The plot of this comedy centers around Miss Bronell, who as the daughter of a notorious Chinese dope peddler and smuggler, incurs the wrath of her father by falling in love with an American, who is in a sight-seeing party through New York's Chinatown. The father in an effort to stop the love affair, shoots his daughter's lover, and to drown her sorrow, "The China Doll" finds forgetfulness in the opium pipe. Her dreams in poppyland under the influence of this drug furnishes the setting for the scenes that follow, until she awakens to find that her lover still lives, and that she herself is a white girl, stolen by the wicked foster parent.

The first dream of "The China Doll," while under the influence of opium, is in the land of story-books. Here all of the characters of childhood folklore, including Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, Jack The Giant Killer, Mother Goose, and many others were brought to life on the stage, amid strikingly realistic settings, and with numerous musical bits.

"The Land Of Music" was the second dream brought on by the poppy pipe. Here Little Miss Ragtime reigned supreme, much to the disgust of Discord and the queen of song. Clever music, dancing and elaborate settings made this scene a very popular one.

The third and last dream was undoubtedly the finest of the three, with gorgeous settings, striking electrical effects and beautiful costumes. This dream was in the land of flowers, in which the leading lady was cast as Miss Rose. In this scene Miss Bronell proved herself to be a toe dancer far above the average, exhibiting many intricate steps in this difficult art.

All who witnessed "My China Doll" are loud in their praise for the musical comedy, and agree with the critics from the larger cities in proclaiming it one of the decided worthwhile attractions of the season.

The company came to Brainerd from Duluth, where it played a four-day engagement, and left on Tuesday morning for Crookston, and Fargo, enroute to the west coast on its winter tour.

The Duluth Herald has the following to say of the production:

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is wrongly condemned as a rebel against King James and is deported to Bridgetown in Barbadoes. There he is purchased as a slave by Colonel Bishop, military commander, at the behest of Arabella, the Colonel's niece. A Spanish galleon, the Cinco Liagas, under command of Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez, captures the city. While the Spaniards sack the city, Blood sends Mary and Arabella back of the city to safety. He leads his fellow rebels-convict on board the ship and captures it. Colonel Bishop goes on board and Blood holds the military commander as hostage while the ship puts out of port and sends Bishop over the gangplank. Don Diego, taken prisoner, is told by Blood to sail the ship to Curacao, a Dutch settlement, in return for his liberty. Jeremy Pitt, who had studied navigation, suspects Don Diego is betraying them.

New to the seas of the Spanish Main and to the ways of the adventurers who sailed it, Captain Blood still entertained illusions. But the next dawn was to shatter them rudely and for ever.

Coming on deck before the sun was up, he saw land ahead, as the Spaniard had promised them last night.

Beating out aweather, against the gentle landward breeze he beheld a great ship on their starboard bow, that he conceived to be some three or four miles off, and—as well as he could judge her at that distance—of a tonnage equal if not superior to their own. Even as he watched her she altered her course, and going about came heading toward them, close hauled.

"There," said a soft voice behind him in liquid Spanish, "is the Promised Land, Don Pedro."

He turned sharply to face Don Diego, so sharply that the sly smile was not effaced from the Spaniard's countenance before Captain Blood's eyes had flashed upon it.

"What land is that?" he demanded. "Will you have the effrontery to tell me that is the coast of Curacao. That land, you treacherous, forsworn Spanish dog, is the island of Hispaniola."

"Ah, perro ingles! You know too much," he said under his breath, and sprang for the Captain's throat.

Tight-locked in each other's arms they swayed a moment, then together they went down upon the deck, the Spaniard's feet jerked from under him by the right leg of Captain Blood. The Spaniard had depended upon choking the life out of Blood, and so gaining the half-hour that might be necessary to bring up that fine ship that was beating towards them. But all that Don Diego had accomplished was to betray himself completely.

"Will I say a prayer for your dirty soul now, whilst I am in this position?" Captain Blood was furiously mocking him.

"Who will pray for your soul, I wonder, when that galleon comes to lie board and board with you? Do you know what ship it is? It is the Encarnacion, the flagship of Don Miguel de Espinosa, the Lord Admiral of Castile, and Don Miguel is my brother. It is a very fortunate encounter. The Almighty, you see, watches over the destinies of Catholic Spain."

There was no trace of humor or urbanity now in Captain Blood. His light eyes blazed; his face was set.

He rose, relinquishing the Spaniard to his men. "Make him fast," he bade them. "Truss him, wrist and heel, but don't hurt him—not so much as a hair of his precious head."

Captain Blood regarded him steadily out of a face which, if impassive, had paled under its deep tan. About the prisoner, clamant, infuriated, ferocious, the rebels-convict surged, almost literally "athirst for his blood."

"Wait," Captain Blood imperiously commanded, and turning on his heel, he went aside to the rail. As he stood there deep in thought he was joined by Hagthorpe, Wolverstone, and Ogle the gunner. In silence they stared with him across the water at that other ship.

"In less than half-an-hour," said Blood presently, "we shall have her athwart our hawse, sweeping our decks with her guns."

"We can fight," said the one-eyed giant with an oath.

"Fight!" sneered Blood. "Undermanned as we are, mustering a bare twenty men, in what case are we to fight? No, there would be only one way. To persuade her that all is well aboard, that we are Spaniards, so that she may leave us to continue on our course."

Ogle, with a bent for sarcasm, interposed a suggestion bitterly.

"We might send Don Diego de Espinosa in a boat manned by his Spaniards to assure his brother the Admiral that we are all loyal subjects of his Catholic Majesty."

"Bead! ye've said it. He doesn't fear death, this damned pirate; but his son may take a different view. Filial piety's mighty strong in Spain." He swung on his heel abruptly, and strode back to the knot of men about his prisoner. "Here!" he shouted to them. "Bring him below."

In the ward-room the three stern chasers were in position, loaded, their muzzles thrusting through the open ports, precisely as the Spanish gunners had left them.

"Here, Ogle, is work for you," said Blood, and as the burly gunner came thrusting forward through the throng of gaping men, Blood pointed to the middle chaser: "Have that gun hauled back," he ordered.

When this was done, Blood beckoned those who held Don Diego.

"Lash him across the mouth of it," he bade them, and whilst, assisted by another two, they made haste to obey, he turned to the others: "To the roundhouse, some of you, and fetch the Spanish prisoners. And you, Dyke, go up and bid them set the flag of Spain aloft."

Don Diego, with his body stretched in an arc across the cannon's mouth, legs and arms lashed to the carriage on either side of it, eyeballs rolling in his head, glared maniacally at Captain Blood. A man may not fear to die, and yet be appalled by the form in which death comes to him.

Captain Blood vouchsafed him a malignant smile, before he turned to meet the fifteen manacled Spanish prisoners. From amongst them a comely, olive-skinned stripling, distinguished in bearing and apparel from his companions, started forward with an anguished cry of "Father!"

Writhing in the arms that made haste to seize and hold him, he called upon heaven and hell to avert this horror and lastly, addressed to Captain Blood an appeal for mercy that was at once fierce and piteous.

Recovering the cynicism in which he had approached his task, the cynicism essential to his proper performance, Blood commanded Ogle to kindle a match and remove the laden apron from the touchhole of the gun that bore Don Diego. Then, as the younger Espinosa broke into intercessions mingled with imprecations, he wheeled upon him sharply.

"Peace!" he snapped. "It is your father's treachery that has brought us into this plight and deliberately into risk of capture and death aboard that ship of Spain. Just as your father recognized his brother's flagship, so will his brother have recognized the Cinco Liagas. So far, then, all is well. But presently the Encarnacion will be sufficiently close to perceive that here all is not as it should be. Sooner or later she must guess or discover what is wrong, and then she will open fire or lay us board and board. Understand this clearly; to the first shot from the Encarnacion this gun will fire the answer. I make myself clear, I hope?"

"But, name of God, how should I be clear," young Espinosa cried. "Can you avert the fight? If you know a way, and if I, or these, can help you to it in Heaven's name let me hear it."

One Thing He Did Know

A magnate on trial had a very eloquent attorney. The summing up speech attracted a large gallery, and one of the listeners was so deeply impressed that he leaned over to the defendant and said: "What a lawyer that man is. Pearls of wisdom drop from his mouth." "I don't know about that," responded the magnate grudgingly. "But I do know that what he is saying is costing me at least a dollar a word."

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

By JOSEPH KAYE

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

LEIGH HUNT AND MARIANNE KENT

LEIGH HUNT was a celebrated English writer who lived in the Nineteenth century. Among his other literary activities he was the editor of a newspaper called the Examiner, and in this capacity he wrote of the Prince Regent that he was "a fat Adonis of fifty." For this disrespectful allusion he was sentenced to prison for two years. But in serving his sentence he achieved greater fame for he became a sort of minor martyr and his cell was constantly visited by the greatest people in the land.

Marianne Kent was Hunt's betrothed. They became engaged when she was thirteen and he seventeen and as may be expected from such an early match their love was intense. Hunt's letters to Marianne are inspired epistles, as one of the following quotations may indicate:

"My dearest Marianne—I am very uncomfortable; I get up at five in the morning, say a word to nobody, curse my stars until eleven at night and then creep into bed and curse my stars for tomorrow; and all this because I love a little black-eyed girl of fifteen whom nobody knows, with my heart and soul."

The letter below was written after Hunt had taken a walk in the country:

"It seemed the return of Spring . . . a delightful serenity diffused itself through my heart. I worshiped the magnificence and the love of you. These sensations always arise in my heart in the quiet of a rural landscape and I have often considered it a proof of the purity and reality of my affection for you that it always feels most powerful in my religious moments. And this is very natural. Are you not the greatest blessing Heaven has bestowed upon me? Your image attends my rural rambles—it excites me to improve myself in order to deserve your affection. . . . If I feel my anger rising at trifles it checks me instantaneously; it seems to say to me: 'Why do you disturb yourself? Marianne loves you. . . .'"

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is wrongly condemned as a rebel against King James and is deported to Bridgetown in Barbadoes. There he is purchased as a slave by Colonel Bishop, military commander, at the behest of Arabella, the Colonel's niece. A Spanish galleon, the Cinco Ilagas, under command of Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez, captures the city. While the Spaniards sack the city, Blood sends Mary and Arabella back of the city to safety. He leads his fellow rebels-convict on board the ship and captures it. Colonel Bishop goes on board and Blood holds the military commander as hostage while the ship puts out of port and sends Bishop over the gangplank. Don Diego, taken prisoner, is told by Blood to sail the ship to Curacao, a Dutch settlement, in return for his liberty. Jeremy Pitt, who had studied navigation, suspects Don Diego is betraying them.

New to the seas of the Spanish Main and to the ways of the adventurers who sailed it, Captain Blood still entertained illusions. But the next dawn was to shatter them rudely and for ever.

Coming on deck before the sun was up, he saw land ahead, as the Spaniard had promised them last night. Beating out weather, against the gentle landward breeze he beheld a great ship on their starboard bow, that he conceived to be some three or four miles off, and—as well as he could judge her at that distance—of a tonnage equal if not superior to their own. Even as he watched her she altered her course, and going about came heading toward them, close hauled.

"There," said a soft voice behind him in liquid Spanish, "is the Promised Land, Don Pedro."

He turned sharply to face Don Diego, so sharply that the sly smile was not effaced from the Spaniard's countenance before Captain Blood's eyes had flashed upon it.

"What land is that?" he demanded. "Will you have the effrontery to tell me that is the coast of Curacao. That land, you treacherous, forsworn Spanish dog, is the island of Hispaniola."

"Ah, perro ingles! You know too much," he said under his breath, and sprang for the Captain's throat.

Tight-locked in each other's arms they swayed a moment, then together they went down upon the deck, the Spaniard's feet jerked from under him by the right leg of Captain Blood. The Spaniard had depended upon choking the life out of Blood, and so gaining the half-hour that might be necessary to bring up that fine ship that was beating towards them. But all that Don Diego had accomplished was to betray himself completely.

"Will I say a prayer for your dirty soul now, whilst I am in this position?" Captain Blood was furiously mocking him.

"Who will pray for your soul, I wonder, when that galleon comes to lie board and board with you? Do you know what ship it is? It is the Encarnacion, the flagship of Don Miguel de Espinosa, the Lord Admiral of Castile, and Don Miguel is my brother. It is a very fortunate encounter. The Almighty, you see, watches over the destinies of Catholic Spain."

There was no trace of humor or urbanity now in Captain Blood. His light eyes blazed: his face was set.

He rose, relinquishing the Spaniard to his men. "Truss him fast," he bade them. "Truss him, wrist and heel, but don't hurt him—not so much as a hair of his precious head." Captain Blood regarded him steadily out of a face which, if impassive, had paled under its deep tan. About the prisoner, clamant, infuriated, ferocious, the rebels-convict surged, almost literally "athirst for his blood."

"Wait," Captain Blood imperiously commanded, and turning on his heel, he went aside to the rail. As he stood there deep in thought he was joined by Hagthorpe, Wolverstone, and Ogle the gunner. In silence they stared with him across the water at that other ship.

"In less than half-an-hour," said Blood presently, "we shall have her athwart our hawse, sweeping our decks with her guns."

"We can fight," said the one-eyed giant with an oath.

"Fight!" sneered Blood. "Undermanned as we are, mustering a bare twenty men, in what case are we to fight? No, there would be only one way. To persuade her that all is well aboard, that we are Spaniards, so that she may leave us to continue on our course."

Ogle, with a bent for sarcasm, interposed a suggestion bitterly.

"We might send Don Diego de Espinosa in a boat manned by his Spaniards to assure his brother the Admiral that we are all loyal subjects of his Catholic Majesty."

"Badad! ye've said it. He doesn't fear death, this damned pirate; but his son may take a different view. Filial piety's mighty strong in Spain." He swung on his heel abruptly, and strode back to the knot of men about his prisoner. "Here!" he shouted to them. "Bring him below."

In the ward-room the three stern chasers were in position, loaded, their muzzles thrusting through the open ports, precisely as the Spanish gunners had left them.

"Here, Ogle, is work for you," said Blood, and as the burly gunner came thrusting forward through the throng of gaping men, Blood pointed to the middle chaser: "Have that gun hauled back," he ordered.

When this was done, Blood beckoned those who held Don Diego.

"Lash him across the mouth of it," he bade them, and whilst, assisted by another two, they made haste to obey, he turned to the others: "To the roundhouse, some of you, and fetch the Spanish prisoners. And you, Dyke, go up and bid them set the flag of Spain aloft."

Don Diego, with his body stretched in an arc across the cannon's mouth, legs and arms lashed to the carriage on either side of it, eyeballs rolling in his head, glared maniacally at Captain Blood. A man may not fear to die, and yet be appalled by the form in which death comes to him.

Captain Blood vouchsafed him a malignant smile, before he turned to meet the fifteen manacled Spanish prisoners. From amongst them a comely, olive-skinned stripling, distinguished in bearing and apparel from his companions, started forward with an anguished cry of "Father!"

Writhing in the arms that made haste to seize and hold him, he called upon heaven and hell to avert this horror and lastly, addressed to Captain Blood an appeal for mercy that was at once fierce and piteous.

Recovering the cynicism in which he had approached his task, the cynicism essential to its proper performance, Blood commanded Ogle to kindle a match and remove the leaden apron from the touchhole of the gun that bore Don Diego. Then, as the younger Espinosa broke into intercessions mingled with imprecations, he wheeled upon him sharply.

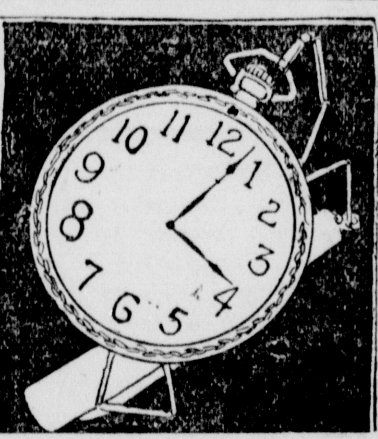

"Peace!" he snapped. "It is your father's treachery that has brought us into this plight and deliberately into risk of capture and death aboard that ship of Spain. Just as your father recognized his brother's flagship, so will his brother have recognized the Cinco Ilagas. So far, then, all is well. But presently the Encarnacion will be sufficiently close to perceive that here all is not as it should be. Sooner or later she must guess or discover what is wrong, and then she will open fire or lay us board and board. Understand this clearly: to the first shot from the Encarnacion this gun will fire the answer. I shall myself clear, I hope?"

"But, name of God, how should it be clear," young Espinosa cried. "Can you avert the fight? If you know a way, and if I, or these, can help you to it in Heaven's name let me hear it."

COUNCIL WORKS FOR STEADY POWER

Demands Continuous Electric Light and Power Service From Company

AMENDMENT ADOPTED

Provides Minnesota Power & Light Co. Shall Bring Two Leads Into the City

The city council, at its regular meeting on Monday night, did its utmost to secure for the citizens of Brainerd, a continuous electric light and power service, because of serious breaks in this service which have occurred since the Minnesota Power and Light Company has taken over the holdings of the Cuyuna Range Power Co.'s property.

For the purpose of securing better service, the city council adopted an amendment to its present contract with the power company, which will provide for the transferring of the switchboards from the old power plant on East Laurel street to the city pumping station on South Sixth street, for the purpose of closer and better supervision.

The amendment further provides that the power company shall bring into the city two lead lines, one from Pillager, the other from Riverton, thus making it possible to switch from one to the other, should one of these lines be out of commission.

As an added precaution, the power company is asked to restore its transformers at The Northwest Paper Co. mill, and the line to the mill which the city erected some years ago, so that in case both the Pillager and the Riverton leads should become out of commission, the city may still have uninterrupted service from the mill.

The power company is asked to furnish the transformers and maintain them. The city is to make its own contract for current with the paper mill company.

While the city council adopted these amendments to the contract with the power company, the latter has not as yet signified its willingness to accept the amendments, although it is believed that it will do so in the near future.

A. W. Taylor, superintendent and manager of the Little Falls district of which Brainerd is a part, attended the council meeting. While Mr. Taylor was not authorized to complete the amendment to the contract with his company, and could not promise that it would be completed, he expressed himself as feeling that it would be favorably considered.

Thomas Johnson, superintendent of the paper mill, said that his company was disposed to do what it could to help the city in solving its electrical problems, and felt that a satisfactory contract could be entered into between the city and the mill to furnish current in emergencies.

THOMAS SCHALL

ADDRESSES VOTERS

Very Ably Discusses Political Situation From Rostrum in Gregory Park

STATE AND NATIONAL

"If Coolidge Carries Minnesota He Will Be Elected," Said the Congressman

Thomas Schall, candidate for the United States Senate, and former congressman from Minnesota, spoke to an interested audience at Gregory park on Monday evening, and discussed very ably the political situation, both in the state and nationally.

Mr. Schall stated this morning that the Republican party and its candidates are gaining headway very rapidly in Minnesota. Especially is this true in the southern part of the state, and in fact with the exception of the Ninth district, it is felt that sentiments favors all of the republican candidates. The Ninth district is the only one that has not as yet been thoroughly canvassed and work in this line is to be done there soon.

As to the national situation, Mr. Schall states that Coolidge is going to run very strong. If the election had been two weeks ago, he feels that LaFollette would have won, but it can be seen that sentiment is turning rapidly in favor of Coolidge.

"If Coolidge carries Minnesota he will be elected," said Mr. Schall, who feels that this state will be the indicator for the nation. "Labor should be well satisfied with Mr. Coolidge's record since he has been president," continued the blind congressman, "for he has in every case used his authority to further the best interests of labor, the farmer and the common people."

"A vote for LaFollette is a vote for Charles Bryan, and thus a vote for the League of Nations," contends Mr. Schall, and explains this assertion by saying that if Republican vote for LaFollette they are cutting down the Coolidge majority, so that neither the Republican or the Democratic nominees can be elected, in which case congress will choose the president, and Bryan would have a fair chance of winning over the Republican vice president. Magnus Johnson has said that he will vote for Bryan in such an emergency, stated Mr. Schall.

"The League of Nations will surely be put across if a Democratic president is elected," said the speaker. "And no one want the League of Nations except the big Eastern money men, who see an opportunity to amass more wealth by international financing."

"The Versailles treaty is rotten to the core," was another assertion made by Mr. Schall, who explained that by this treaty other countries of the globe received numerous benefits while all the United States got out of the shuffle was prohibition, and the further enmity of foreign nations.

Mr. Schall said that LaFollette wants to put over legislation that would give congress the power to over-ride the supreme court of the United States, and thus cut off the important third arm of this government, which is really the arm of God, and which has been instrumental in making our form of government succeed where others have failed.

"We want a government in which the individual will be given an opportunity to develop," said Mr. Schall, who denounced Socialism as taking away that individual opportunity. "Socialism is placing the absolute power in the hands of a few, instead of giving it to the masses, as is the claim of its leaders. Russia is a glowing example of this today, with a very limited few in absolute dictatorship, the worst example that the world has even seen, and one in which the individual has no voice whatever."

"George Washington, and every patriot of Revolutionary times has warned against forming entangling alliances with other nations, and this warning has been handed down generation after generation, to Roosevelt's time. Becoming entangled in foreign alliances has always proven dangerous and extremely perilous," said Mr. Schall, in warning against the League of Nations and other similar pacts.

Mr. Schall, with his wife and several friends, stayed in Brainerd on Monday night, and left Tuesday morning for Ironton and Crosby, where he speaks today. The Brainerd Boys Band furnished music at the Schall program in Gregory park.

2 MORE BODIES FOUND IN MINE

Late yesterday two more bodies were found in the Milford mine, where the disaster of February drowned 41 men. Eleven bodies now remain to be found. The bodies recovered late yesterday were two contract miners, Henry Maki, aged 38 and Alex Jyha, aged 45. Both are married and had homes in Crosby. The corpses were found on the 165 foot level.

PEONY CAMPAIGN

This Week Closes the Concerted Effort to Make Brainerd a "Peony City"

This week will close the campaign for the selling of peonies the purpose of which is to make Brainerd a distinctive peony city.

To date the sale has been most encouraging to those in charge. They report some as buying as many as five lots.

It is also reported that many are delaying their purchases and that some who were to solicit are endangering the success of the plan by inactivity in their soliciting. This failure will show up later when their portion of the city fails to blossom.

There has been places designated to receive orders. There were established to receive the orders of those overlooked and not to relieve solicitors of their work. The first lot is expected this week and these roots will be for those who get their orders in early.

New Use for Zeppelins

An Austrian scientist, by means of applying the short radio wave, made it possible to use Zeppelin airships for land reconnoitering in large desert and waste areas. If this method is adopted, he says, the short radio waves can be used in locating water deposits in the desert or waste land. It would be an indication of water underground if the short waves were reflected from the ground.

Vibration Through Rock

Some interesting experiments recently have been made by oil companies in Texas in regard to the speed with which vibrations move through different types of rock. It has been found that a movement similar to those produced by earthquakes travels at the rate of 14,000 feet a second in limestone and in only one-half that rate, or 7,000 feet a second, in shale.—Kansas City Star.

Our Birthday Message

September Sixteenth is a red letter day in the history of the Citizens State Bank, for on this date we will round out thirty-five years of constructive service.

From the first our aim has been to take part in the up-building of the community, and to contribute to the progress and welfare of all who have relied upon us to meet their banking needs.

It is a matter of honest pride to us to observe evidence of our success in this undertaking, and of grateful appreciation for the enduring friendships which have resulted.

Steady growth in our resources, and in the solid strength which means added protection for our customers, as well as in the enduring confidence on the part of these customers which has been continued throughout all these years.

Therefore we extend our thanks to our friends with the assurance that they may count on us as confidently in the future as they have learned to do in the past.

This is our birthday message—a message of good will and a pledge of continued and whole-hearted co-operation.

Three-pound Fish, Caught on Line, Found in Depths Near Bodies

The bodies of D. O. Sundgren and Andrew Johnson, who drowned on Saturday night while on a fishing trip at Mille Lacs lake, were found late Monday afternoon. Sundgren's body was found first, at 4:45 o'clock and Johnson's body three-quarters of an hour later.

They were located about ten feet apart and within ten feet of where their boat was found anchored, in thirty feet of water. The spot is nearly two miles from the west shore of Mille Lacs at the St. Albans resort. Sundgren's brother-in-law was with the searchers when the bodies were recovered, but no other relatives were present.

Two sets of grappling hooks were used, under the direction of Deputy Sheriff Henry Stein. Five boats, two of them with outboard motors pulled the lines.

The searchers in addition to finding the bodies, also found both fish lines that had been used by Johnson and Sundgren. A three-pound fish was caught on one of the hooks, and was still alive, but got away as the rescuers brought it to the surface.

The bodies were brought to Brainerd by Coroner D. E. Whitney. A Minneapolis undertaker motored to Brainerd on Tuesday morning and took the bodies back with him for burial in the cities.

DISTRICT COURT NOW IN SESSION

The general September term of the district court opened with Judge W. S. McClenahan presiding.

The first action of the court was in regard to the hearing of persons who had applied for citizenship. The following were granted citizenship papers: Lydia Gustis of Swatara, Lizzie Amelia Carlstrom of Aitkin, Alfreda Gustava Holm of Fallade, Julius Olson of Aitkin, Nels Edwin Hogborn of Jacobson, Arthur Theodore Gabrielson of Aitkin and Alma Arvidson of Rosburg.

The Americanization Committee of the Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Frank Erickson and Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, pinned small American flags on the new citizens and welcomed them. They also served a lunch later in the morning.—Aitkin Independent Age.

"But surely you are not the lady of the house," insisted the man. "I should have sworn that you were the youngest daughter."

"I'll have that cabbage strainer," she said.

COUNCIL WORKS FOR STEADY POWER

Demands Continuous Electric Light and Power Service From Company

AMENDMENT ADOPTED

Provides Minnesota Power & Light Co. Shall Bring Two Leads Into the City

The city council, at its regular meeting on Monday night, did its utmost to secure for the citizens of Brainerd, a continuous electric light and power service, because of serious breaks in this service which have occurred since the Minnesota Power and Light Company has taken over the holdings of the Cuyuna Range Power Co.'s property.

For the purpose of securing better service, the city council adopted an amendment to its present contract with the power company, which will provide for the transferring of the switchboards from the old power plant on East Laurel street to the city pumping station on South Sixth street, for the purpose of closer and better supervision.

The amendment further provides that the power company shall bring into the city two lead lines, one from Pillager, the other from Riverton, thus making it possible to switch from one to the other, should one of these lines be out of commission.

As an added precaution, the power company is asked to restore its transformers at The Northwest Paper Co. mill, and the line to the mill which the city erected some years ago, so that in case both the Pillager and the Riverton leads should become out of commission, the city may still have uninterrupted service from the mill.

The power company is asked to furnish the transformers and maintain them. The city is to make its own contract for current with the paper mill company.

While the city council adopted these amendments to the contract with the power company, the latter has not as yet signified its willingness to accept the amendments, although it is believed that it will do so in the near future.

A. W. Taylor, superintendent and manager of the Little Falls district of which Brainerd is a part, attended the council meeting. While Mr. Taylor was not authorized to complete the amendment to the contract with his company, and could not promise that it would be completed, he expressed himself as feeling that it would be favorably considered.

Thomas Johnson, superintendent of the paper mill, said that his company was disposed to do what it could to help the city in solving its electrical problems, and felt that a satisfactory contract could be entered into between the city and the mill to furnish current in emergencies.

THOMAS SCHALL

ADDRESSES VOTERS

Very Ably Discusses Political Situation From Rostrum in Gregory Park

STATE AND NATIONAL

"If Coolidge Carries Minnesota He Will Be Elected," Said the Congressman

Thomas Schall, candidate for the United States Senate, and former congressman from Minnesota, spoke to an interested audience at Gregory park on Monday evening, and discussed very ably the political situation, both in the state and nationally.

Mr. Schall stated this morning that the Republican party and its candidates are gaining headway very rapidly in Minnesota. Especially is this true in the southern part of the state, and in fact with the exception of the Ninth district, it is felt that sentiments favors all of the republican candidates. The Ninth district is the only one that has not as yet been thoroughly canvassed and work in this line is to be done there soon.

As to the national situation, Mr. Schall states that Coolidge is going to run very strong. If the election had been two weeks ago, he feels that LaFollette would have won, but it can be seen that sentiment is turning rapidly in favor of Coolidge.

"If Coolidge carries Minnesota he will be elected," said Mr. Schall, who feels that this state will be the indicator for the nation. "Labor should be well satisfied with Mr. Coolidge's record since he has been president," continued the blind congressman, "for he has in every case used his authority to further the best interests of labor, the farmer and the common people."

"A vote for LaFollette is a vote for Charles Bryan, and thus a vote for the League of Nations" contends Mr. Schall, and explains this assertion by saying that if Republican vote for LaFollette they are cutting down the Coolidge majority, so that neither the Republican or the Democratic nominees can be elected, in which case congress will choose the president, and Bryan would have a fair chance of winning over the Republican vice president. Magnus Johnson has said that he will vote for Bryan in such an emergency, stated Mr. Schall.

"The League of Nations will surely be put across if a Democratic president is elected," said the speaker. "And no one want the League of Nations except the big Eastern money men, who see an opportunity to amass more wealth by international financeering."

"The Versailles treaty is rotten to the core," was another assertion made by Mr. Schall, who explained that by this treaty other countries of the globe received numerous benefits while all the United States got out of the shuffle was prohibition, and the further enmity of foreign nations.

Mr. Schall said that LaFollette wants to put over legislation that would give congress the power to over-ride the supreme court of the United States, and thus cut off the important third arm of this government, which is really the arm of God, and which has been instrumental in making our form of government succeed where others have failed.

"We want a government in which the individual will be given an opportunity to develop," said Mr. Schall, who denounced Socialism as taking away that individual opportunity. "Socialism is placing the absolute power in the hands of a few, instead of giving it to the masses, as is the claim of its leaders. Russia is a glowing example of this today, with a very limited few in absolute dictatorship, the worst example that the world has even seen, and one in which the individual has no voice whatever."

"George Washington, and every patriot of Revolutionary times has warned against forming entangling alliances with other nations, and this warning has been handed down generation after generation, to Roosevelt's time. Becoming entangled in foreign alliances has always proven dangerous and extremely perilous," said Mr. Schall, in warning against the League of Nations and other similar pacts.

Mr. Schall, with his wife and several friends, stayed in Brainerd on Monday night, and left Tuesday morning for Ironton and Crosby, where he speaks today. The Brainerd Boys Band furnished music at the Schall program in Gregory park.

2 MORE BODIES FOUND IN MINE

Late yesterday two more bodies were found in the Milford mine, where the disaster of February drowned 41 men. Eleven bodies now remain to be found. The bodies recovered late yesterday were two contract miners, Henry Maki, aged 38 and Alex Jyhia, aged 45. Both are married and had homes in Crosby. The corpses were found on the 165 foot level.

PEONY CAMPAIGN

This Week Closes the Concerted Effort to Make Brainerd a "Peony City"

This week will close the campaign for the selling of peonies the purpose of which is to make Brainerd a distinctive peony city.

To date the sale has been most encouraging to those in charge. They report some as buying as many as five lots.

It is also reported that many are delaying their purchases and that some who were to solicit are endangering the success of the plan by inactivity in their soliciting. This failure will show up later when their portion of the city fails to blossom.

There has been places designated to receive orders. There were established to receive the orders of those overlooked and not to relieve solicitors of their work. The first lot is expected this week and these roots will be for those who get their orders in early.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT

Select Officers and Map Out a Social Program For the Year

New Use for Zeppelins

An Austrian scientist, by means of applying the short radio wave, made it possible to use Zeppelin airships for land reconnoitering in large desert and waste areas. If this method is adopted, he says, the short radio waves can be used in locating water deposits in the desert or waste land. It would be an indication of water underground if the short waves were reflected from the ground.

Vibration Through Rock

Some interesting experiments recently have been made by oil companies in Texas in regard to the speed with which vibrations move through different types of rock. It has been found that a movement similar to those produced by earthquakes travels at the rate of 14,000 feet a second in limestone and in only one-half that rate, or 7,000 feet a second, in shale.—Kansas City Star.

BODIES OF 2

ARE FOUND

Sundgren and Johnson Lay Within 10 Feet of Each Other in 30 Feet of Water

BODIES TAKEN TO MILL CITY

Three-pound Fish, Caught on Line, Found in Depths Near Bodies

The bodies of D. O. Sundgren and Andrew Johnson, who drowned on Saturday night while on a fishing trip at Mille Laes lake, were found late Monday afternoon. Sundgren's body was found first, at 4:45 o'clock and Johnson's body three-quarters of an hour later.

They were located about ten feet apart and within ten feet of where their boat was found anchored, in thirty feet of water. The spot is nearly two miles from the west shore of Mille Laes at the St. Albans resort. Sundgren's brother-in-law was with the searchers when the bodies were recovered, but no other relatives were present.

Two sets of grappling hooks were used, under the direction of Deputy Sheriff Henry Stein. Five boats, two of them with outboard motors pulled the lines.

The searchers in addition to finding the bodies, also found both fish lines that had been used by Johnson and Sundgren. A three-pound fish was caught on one of the hooks, and was still alive, but got away as the rescuers brought it to the surface.

The bodies were brought to Brainerd by Coroner D. E. Whitney. A Minneapolis undertaker motored to Brainerd on Tuesday morning and took the bodies back with him for burial in the cities.

DISTRICT COURT

NOW IN SESSION

The general September term of the district court opened with Judge W. S. McClenahan presiding.

The first action of the court was in regard to the hearing of persons who had applied for citizenship. The following were granted citizenship papers: Lydia Gustis of Swatara, Lizzie Amelia Carlstrom of Aitkin, Alfreda Gustava Holm of Pillsade, Julius Olson of Aitkin, Nels Edwin Hogborm of Jacobson, Arthur Theodore Gabrielson of Aitkin and Alma Arvidson of Rossburg.

The Americanization Committee of the Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Frank Erickson and Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, pinned small American flags on the new citizens and welcomed them. They also served a lunch later in the morning.—Aitkin Independent Age.

The Crafty Peddler

"Go away at once," said the lady of the house. "We don't want any pots and pans."

"But I want to see the lady of the house," insisted the peddler.

"Well, use your eyes then," retorted the lady.

"But surely you are not the lady of the house," insisted the man. "I should have sworn that you were the youngest daughter."

"I'll have that cabbage strainer," she said.

Our Birthday Message

September Sixteenth is a red letter day in the history of the Citizens State Bank, for on this date we will round out thirty-five years of constructive service.

From the first our aim has been to take part in the up-building of the community, and to contribute to the progress and welfare of all who have relied upon us to meet their banking needs.

It is a matter of honest pride to us to observe evidence of our success in this undertaking, and of grateful appreciation for the enduring friendships which have resulted.

Steady growth in our resources, and in the solid strength which means added protection for our customers, as well as in the enduring confidence on the part of these customers which has been continued throughout all these years.

Therefore we extend our thanks to our friends with the assurance that they may count on us as confidently in the future as they have learned to do in the past.

This is our birthday message—a message of good will and a pledge of continued and whole-hearted co-operation.

WASHINGTON SENATORS FURNISH THRILL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 16.—Whatever happens to the Washington Senators in the American League pennant race, they must be given credit for furnishing a great public thrill and for showing a lot of experts that form is a fickle foundation for predictions.

If the Senators should pull through to the pennant they will be one of the most popular champions that ever went into a world's series. Up and down both major league circuits well wishes for young Buck Harris and his hustling club have been heard on all sides.

The reason for the popularity of the team is not hard to find. He is Walter Johnson, the grand old pitcher and the most popular player in baseball. Johnson has one of the finest records a pitcher ever made and he has a personality that has always been a credit to the game. Johnson never has been in a world series, and it is the fond wish of all baseball that he has at least one crack at big glory before he has to retire.

Not one expert in the business of picking finish positions in the spring gave the Senators a tumble. They were looked upon as first division timber that was more likely to disappoint than to surprise form in the hands of a boy manager, Buck Harris.

Detroit and Cleveland were expected to give the Yankees what little trouble they would encounter in another jaunt pennantward. When the Yankee pitching staff cracked and the team slumped, Detroit lived up to promise, but it was the Senators who came through when Cleveland faltered and fell out of the contending position.

The Senators, even after their sensational rise, were expected to collapse. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees and Ty Cobb, pilot of the Tigers, figured that Buck Harris had the team playing way over its head and that in a hot pennant race the club naturally would have to seek its own level.

YANKEES CATCH FLYING SENATORS

TIE WITH THEM FOR FIRST PLACE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 16.—The world's champion Yankees finally caught Washington in the American league race yesterday by winning from Chicago as the Senators lost their second straight to Detroit. The two teams are tied for first place with 82 games won and 59 lost, with the Tigers four contests behind.

In the only game played in the National league, Pittsburgh won an uphill fight from Boston in 12 innings and is now only one and one-half games behind Brooklyn, which trails the Giants by one contest.

The standing of the contending teams follows:

American League
Team	W	L	Pct	Play
Washington	82	59	.581	13
New York	82	59	.581	13
Detroit	79	64	.553	11

National League
Team	W	L	Pct	Play
New York	86	55	.610
Brooklyn	86	57	.601
Pittsburgh	82	56	.594
Cincinnati	76	65	.539
Chicago	74	64	.536
St. Louis	59	83	.416
Philadelphia	51	89	.364
Boston	48	93	.340

1924 RACE SURE IS A RECORD ONE

New York, Sept. 16.—Every baseball season brings something new, something different. And the 1924 campaign isn't apt to be an exception.

As the two major leagues swing into the final stretch, at least four unprecedented feats loom possible. One of these is the possibility of the Giants copping the National flag four years in a row, a trick never before accomplished in the big circuits.

Another concerns Washington. The Nationals have yet to win their first pennant. Should they come through this season they will have added another unique feat to baseball history.

Then there are the White Sox. Evers' boys are groping about in last place. Unless they perk up a bit within the next few weeks, Chicago will likely see its first cellar team in the history of the American league. Outside of the White Sox and the Detroit Tigers, no other club in the Johnsonian loop boasts a noncellar team. Both of these outfits have slipped as low as seventh but have yet to finish the season in the doormat position.

Should the Yankees cop the gon-falon, it will tie the Giants, providing the McGraw gang wins, in grabbing four successive flags. And if both New York clubs come through it will

325 GOT THEIR LICENSES MONDAY

Hunting Season Starts Off With a Rush, Licenses Issued May Over-run Total of Last Year

DUCK BOMBARDMENT IS ON

Fremond Turcotte and E. H. Perry Said Johnson's Garden Was Verdun For Noise

The hunting season got off to a flying start this morning. County Auditor Charles W. Mahlum says his clerks issued 325 licenses yesterday and that the total for Brainerd will be 800 or more. License blanks were sent to every bank in the county, 100 or more licenses, and many of these institutions put in requisitions for more blanks.

Last year the total licenses issued numbered 2300. Fremond Turcotte and E. H. Perry got eight mallards near Big Pelican lake. They said "Johnson's Garden" reverberated like a Verdun bombardment. Hunters in some spots were thicker than ducks. Too much shooting results in "edgung" the ducks so that they get gun-shy.

The cold weather flights are expected the latter part of October.

BRITISH TO PUT UP HARD FIGHT

WILL MAKE DESPERATE EFFORT TO CRACK AMERICAN POLO TEAM

(By United Press)

Meadowbrook, Westbury, L. I., Sept. 16.—Across the velvet green-sweep of international fields, a thin line of blue-clad British horsemen ride this afternoon in a desperate effort to crack the almost irresistible American polo team.

Despite injuries to Malcom Stevenson in the first match the United States four was a 3 to 1 favorite to win today and clinch the cup.

BRITISH LINEUP TO BE CHANGED FOR POLO TILT

Westbury, L. I., Sept. 16.—Overwhelmed and badly shown up in the first match for the international challenge cup the British polo team will try a new lineup for the second match against the American cup holders here today.

Louis Lacey, star back, is the only one of the four starters who will be in the same position in the second match. Lieut. Col. T. P. Melville will replace Maj. T. W. Kirkwood at No. 1; Maj. G. H. Phipps-Horsby will replace Maj. F. B. Hurdall at No. 2, and Maj. Hurdall will move back to No. 3 in place of Maj. E. G. Atkinson.

With the exception of Robert Strawbridge, who replaces the injured Malcom Stevenson, the Americans will start as they did in the first match. Stevenson is much improved and was said today to be out of all danger.

The United States Polo association announced that the third match of the series probably would be played on Thursday instead of Saturday.

Legend of Unicorn

Medieval conception of the unicorn as possessing great strength and fierceness may have been partly due to the fact that in certain passages of the Old Testament, the word R'em (translated in the authorized version, unicorn) refers to a two-horned animal, savage and quarrelsome, subdued to gentleness only at the side of a virgin. The idea of purity is included in the significance of the unicorn used in many coats of arms.

Paddock, "Fastest Human," Equalling World's Record for 220 Yards at National Championships

Charles W. Paddock of Los Angeles, Cal., journalist, student, Chataqua lecturer and sprinter, won the 220 yard sprint in 20 4-5 seconds at the annual national championship games held at West Orange, N. J. This equaled the world record established by him in 1921. He also regained his 100 yard national title, flashing over the tape in 9 3-5 seconds. This also was world's record time but the mark will probably not be allowed as a strong wind was blowing straight down the track. The wind had died down by the time the 220 yard event was run.

POOR GEORGES—LICKED AGAIN IN FIGHT

Paris, Sept. 15.—Georges Carpentier, immediately upon his recent return to France lost another battle, concerning which there was absolutely no publicity beforehand and as to the result of which strenuous attempts have been made to preserve secrecy.

Georges' opponent was a garage attendant and the fight was a combination of Marquis of Queensbury rules and catch-as-catch-can wrestling. The boxer entered the garage and ordered the attendant to take his machine to the second floor in the elevator. Such work not being a part of his particular work, this freeborn French citizen refused.

Carpentier renewed his instructions somewhat sharply and when the attendant persisted in his refusal and made some remark about "fresh war profiteers" Georges swung his famous right. It didn't land, for the garage man nimbly dodged, made a dive for Carpentier's legs, brought the boxer down, and literally wiped the oily, begrimed floor with Georges' latest natty suit.

HAGEN, SARAZEN FAVORED AS PRO GOLF MEET OPENS

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 16.—Under the most perfect weather, 65 players teed off in the medal play of the national professional golfers tournament. The day was cool and clear and the course was in excellent shape for the match.

The 32 low medalists will begin match play this morning.

Thirty-six holes will be played each day with the finals on Saturday.

Golf devotees picked Walter Hagen, British open champion, and Gene Sarazen, present holder of the professional golfers' title, as likely contenders to win their way to the finals.

Play of half a dozen stars, including Jimmy Barnes, former American open champion; William Mehlhorn, winner of the recent western open meet at Chicago, and Leo Diegel, winner of the Shawnee open and the Canadian open, was followed with intense interest by the spectators.

Iowa High School Star Enters Minnesota

Minneapolis, Sept. 16.—There was joy at the University of Minnesota armory this morning. Al Murrell, star fullback from the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, high school showed up.

Murrell is rated as about the best fullback last year in Iowa, which is going some. He was sought by a number of schools, but as his dad is Minnesota alumnus, he persuaded his son to come to the Gopher school.

Coach Spaulding was elated when Murrell reported. The lad's record and his build is such that he appears of all-American timber.

Another giant freshman that reported was Marshall Gary, from Marshall, Minn. The freshman stands over six feet tall, weighs 218 pounds, with apparently not an ounce of extra weight.

Penguin's Peculiarity

Penguins alone of all feathered creatures, walk about upright on land, as man does.

BASEBALL SEASON CLOSED IN AITKIN

Baseball is "taboo" in Aitkin for the balance of the 1924 season according to the management of the local baseball team. Rainy weather, absence from the village of several of the players, and the arrival of that time of year when practice games are almost prohibitive, for several reasons, are the factors leading to a discontinuance of activities.

Aitkin has been very fortunate this season, having won thirteen of the fifteen games played, a record of which not many organizations can claim.

The game which was scheduled to have been played at Crosby last Sunday between the organization representing the range towns and that of Aitkin, was called off at the eleventh hour because of wet grounds.—Aitkin Independent-Age.

Not one expert in the business of picking finish positions in the spring gave the Senators a tumble. They were looked upon as first division timber that was more likely to disappoint than to surprise form in the hands of a boy manager, Buck Harris.

Detroit and Cleveland were expected to give the Yankees what little trouble they would encounter in another jaunt pennantward. When the Yankee pitching staff cracked and the team slumped, Detroit lived up to promise, but it was the Senators who came through when Cleveland faltered and fell out of the contending position.

The Senators, even after their sensational rise, were expected to collapse. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees and Ty Cobb, pilot of the Tigers, figured that Buck Harris had the team playing way over its head and that in a hot pennant race the club naturally would have to seek its own level.

YANKEES CATCH FLYING SENATORS

TIE WITH THEM FOR FIRST PLACE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 16.—The world's champion Yankees finally caught Washington in the American league race yesterday by winning from Chicago as the Senators lost their second straight to Detroit. The two teams are tied for first place with 82 games won and 59 lost, with the Tigers four contests behind.

In the only game played in the National league, Pittsburgh won an uphill fight from Boston in 12 innings and is now only one and one-half games behind Brooklyn, which trails the Giants by one contest.

The standing of the contending teams follows:

American League
	W	L	Pct	Play
Washington	82	59	.581	13
New York	82	59	.581	13
Detroit	79	64	.553	11

National League
	W	L	Pct	Play
New York	86	55	.610
Brooklyn	86	57	.601
Pittsburgh	82	56	.594
Cincinnati	76	65	.539
Chicago	74	64	.535
St. Louis	59	83	.416
Philadelphia	51	89	.364
Boston	48	93	.340

1924 RACE SURE IS A RECORD ONE

New York, Sept. 16.—Every baseball season brings something new, something different. And the 1924 campaign isn't apt to be an exception.

As the two major leagues swing into the final stretch, at least four unprecedented feats loom possible. One of these is the possibility of the Giants copping the National flag four years in a row, a trick never before accomplished in the big circuits.

Another concerns Washington. The Nationals have yet to win their first pennant. Should they come through this season they will have added another unique feat to baseball history.

Then there are the White Sox. Evers' boys are groping about in last place. Unless they perk up a bit within the next few weeks, Chicago will likely see its first cellar team in the history of the American league. Outside of the White Sox and the Detroit Tigers, no other club in the Johnsonian loop boasts a noncellar team. Both of these outfits have slipped as low as seventh but have yet to finish the season in the doormat position.

Should the Yankees cop the gon-falon, it will tie the Giants, providing the McGraw gang wins, in grabbing four successive flags. And if both New York clubs come through it will

325 GOT THEIR LICENSES MONDAY

Hunting Season Starts Off With a Rush, Licenses Issued May Over-run Total of Last Year

DUCK BOMBARDMENT IS ON
Fremont Turcotte and E. H. Perry Said Johnson's Garden Was Verdun For Noise

The hunting season got off to a flying start this morning. County Auditor Charles W. Mahlum says his clerks issued 325 licenses yesterday and that the total for Brainerd will be 899 or more. License blanks were sent to every bank in the county, 100 or more licenses, and many of these institutions put in requisitions for more blanks.

Last year the total licenses issued numbered 2300. Fremont Turcotte and E. H. Perry got eight mallards near Big Pelican lake. They said "Johnson's Garden" reverberated like a Verdun bombardment. Hunters in some spots were thicker than ducks. Too much shooting results in "educating" the ducks so that they get gun-shy.

The cold weather flights are expected the latter part of October.

BRITISH TO PUT UP HARD FIGHT

WILL MAKE DESPERATE EFFORT TO CRACK AMERICAN POLO TEAM

(By United Press)

Meadowbrook, Westbury, L. I., Sept. 16.—Across the velvet green-sweep of international fields, a thin line of blue-clad British horsemen ride this afternoon in a desperate effort to crack the almost irresistible American polo team.

Despite injuries to Malcolm Stevenson in the first match the United States four was a 3 to 1 favorite to win today and clinch the cup.

BRITISH LINEUP TO BE CHANGED FOR POLO TILT

Westbury, L. I., Sept. 16.—Overwhelmed and badly shown up in the first match for the international challenge cup the British polo team will try a new lineup for the second match against the American cup holders here today.

Louis Lacey, star back, is the only one of the four starters who will be in the same position in the second match. Lieut. Col. T. P. Melville will replace Maj. T. W. Kirkwood at No. 1; Maj. G. H. Phipp-Hornby will replace Maj. P. B. Hurdall at No. 2, and Maj. Hurdall will move back to No. 3 in place of Maj. E. G. Atkinson.

With the exception of Robert Strawbridge, who replaces the injured Malcolm Stevenson, the Americans will start as they did in the first match. Stevenson is much improved and was said today to be out of all danger.

The United States Polo association announced that the third match of the series probably would be played on Thursday instead of Saturday.

Legend of Unicorn
Medieval conception of the unicorn as possessing great strength and fierceness may have been partly due to the fact that in certain passages of the Old Testament, the word R'em (translated in the authorized version, unicorn) refers to a two-horned animal, savage and quarrelsome, subdued to gentleness only at the side of a virgin. The idea of purity is included in the significance of the unicorn used in many coats of arms.

Paddock, "Fastest Human," Equalling World's Record for 220 Yards at National Championships

Charles W. Paddock of Los Angeles, Cal., journalist, student, Chatauqua lecturer and sprinter, won the 220 yard sprint in 20 4-5 seconds at the annual national championship games held at West Orange, N. J. This equaled the world's record established by him in 1921. He also regained his 100 yard national title, flashing over the tape in 9 3-5 seconds. This also was world's record time but the mark will probably not be allowed as a strong wind was blowing straight down the track. The wind had died down by the time the 220 yard event was run.

POOR GEORGES—LICKED AGAIN IN FIGHT

Paris, Sept. 15.—Georges Carpentier, immediately upon his recent return to France lost another battle, concerning which there was absolutely no publicity beforehand and as to the result of which strenuous attempts have been made to preserve secrecy.

Georges' opponent was a garage attendant and the fight was a combination of Marquis of Queensbury rules and catch-as-catch-can wrestling. The boxer entered the garage and ordered the attendant to take his machine to the second floor in the elevator. Such work not being a part of his particular work, this freeborn French citizen refused.

Carpentier renewed his instructions somewhat sharply and when the attendant persisted in his refusal and made some remark about "fresh war profiteers" Georges swung his famous right. It didn't land, for the garage man nimbly dodged, made a dive for Carpentier's legs, brought the boxer down, and literally wiped the oily, begrimed floor with Georges' latest natty suit.

Iowa High School Star Enters Minnesota

Minneapolis, Sept. 16.—There was joy at the University of Minnesota armory this morning. Al Murrell, star fullback from the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, high school showed up.

Murrell is rated as about the best fullback last year in Iowa, which is going some. He was sought by a number of schools, but as his dad is Minnesota alumnus, he persuaded his son to come to the Gopher school.

Coach Spaulding was elated when Murrell reported. The lad's record and his build is such that he appears of all-American timber.

Another giant freshman that reported was Marshall Gary, from Marshall, Minn. The freshman stands over six feet tall, weighs 218 pounds, with apparently not an ounce of extra weight.

Penguin's Peculiarity
Penguins alone of all feathered creatures, walk about upright on land, as man does.

HAGEN, SARAZEN FAVORED AS PRO GOLF MEET OPENS

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 16.—Under the most perfect weather, 65 players teed off in the medal play of the national professional golfers tournament. The day was cool and clear and the course was in excellent shape for the match.

The 32 low medalists will begin match play this morning.

Thirty-six holes will be played each day with the finals on Saturday.

Golf devotees picked Walter Hagen, British open champion, and Gene Sarazen, present holder of the professional golfers' title, as likely contenders to win their way to the finals.

Play of half a dozen stars, including Jimmy Barnes, former American open champion; William Mehlhorn, winner of the recent western open meet at Chicago, and Leo Diegel, winner of the Shawnee open and the Canadian open, was followed with intense interest by the spectators.

BASEBALL SEASON CLOSED IN AITKIN

Baseball is "taboo" in Aitkin for the balance of the 1924 season according to the management of the local baseball team. Rainy weather, absence from the village of several of the players, and the arrival of that time of year when practice games are almost prohibitive, for several reasons, are the factors leading to a discontinuance of activities.

Aitkin has been very fortunate this season, having won thirteen of the fifteen games played, a record of which not many organizations can claim.

The game which was scheduled to have been played at Crosby last Sunday between the organization representing the range towns and that of Aitkin, was called off at the eleventh hour because of wet grounds.—Aitkin Independent-Age.
